Description

The Allegro ACS755 family of current sensors provides economical and precise solutions for DC current sensing in industrial, automotive, commercial, and communications systems. The device-package allows for easy implementation by the customer. Typical applications include motor control, load detection and management, power supplies, and overcurrent fault protection.

The device consists of a precision, low-offset linear Hall sensor circuit with a copper conduction path located near the die. Applied current flowing through this copper conduction path generates a magnetic field which is sensed by the integrated Hall IC and converted into a proportional voltage. Device accuracy is optimized through the close proximity of the magnetic signal to the Hall transducer. A procise, proportional voltage is provided by the low-offset, chopper-stabilized BiCMOS Hall IC, which is programmed for accuracy at the factory.

The output of the device will be valid when a current flows through the primary copper conduction path from terminal 4 to terminal 5, which is the path used for current sensing. The internal resistance of this conductive path is  $100 \, \mu\Omega$  typical, providing low power loss.

Typical Application

Application 1. The ACS755 outputs an analog signal,  $V_{\rm OUT}$  that varies linearly with the unidirectional DC primary sensed current,  $I_{\rm P}$ , within the range specified.  $C_{\rm P}$  is recommended for noise management, with values that depend on the application.
