ANSWERS

Q: How tall are you?

A: Five ft. 11 in. . . but people think I'm even shorter.

Q: Where were you born?

A: In Cheltenham, Gloucestershire.

Q: When?

A: February 26, 1944.

Q: When did you get interested in music?

A: At school — Cheltenham Grammar School. But I was 18 before I started working properly . . . that was at the Marquee Jazz Club in London.

Q: Do you own a car?

A: Yes — a Honda Hawk at the moment. But before I used to hire a different car each week, just to try each one out. I suppose you could say I'm lucky for cars.

Q: It's said your hair is the longest of all the Blues. Right?

A: Well, I don't know. We don't measure it. Anyway, I think there's a lot too much said about my hair and our clothes. I've always felt it is the music that matters.

Q: Any special influence on your career, musically speaking?

A: All the great R and B people affected me. Jimmy Reed, Bo Diddley, Chuck Berry. One of the best things about the times we were out of work was that we could stay in and just listen to the American-inspired records.

Q: What are your views of the "whatts" who criticize the Blues?

A: A lot of it is due to the fact that we wear clothes and do things that they wouldn't dare do. I just get fed up to the teeth when they say we should conform. After all, we don't say they should conform to our standards.

Q: Are you a day person — or a night person?

A: I want to come to life during the night. Except that I can't fry clothes during the night-time, which is a drag. Contrary to what people think, we spend a lot of money on clothes, even if it's not on back-mount old-moose suits.

Q: You play guitar and harmonica. Any preferences?

A: This is odd. You can play a guitar costing £250. Or a harmonica, like mine, which is just over ten bob. But I honestly prefer harmonica. You get more out of it. You can get a wide variety of sounds . . . and really "feel" the blues.

Q: Would it have worried you if the Stones had never attained wide recognition?

A: Difficult to say. There were times when we felt we'd never get anywhere, but I know for sure that I'd never give up my music. There was a time when all I lived on was go-egg beans up in mashed potato.

Q: Where do you live?

A: Sorry, but I'm not giving away the address. I honestly value my privacy too much. But I live alone in a rented flat — and it's full of marvelous antique furniture.

Q: Don't being stared at worry you at all?

A: Depends who's doing the staring. But it's all part of the game, isn't it? How could I complain about being recognized when I own everything I've got to the people who like us. It'd be silly to worry.

Q: Are you a worrier on the musical side?

A: Yes, I think so. I want everything we do to be just right. If little things go wrong on stage, I suppose I get very worried. I just don't like accepting second best.

Q: Do you really smoke as many as seventy cigarettes a day?

A: That number seems to go up every time it's quoted. No, but I smoke when I'm smoking. So it's easy to see how I could cut down.

Q: Any big ambition for the Stones?

A: I'd love us to do well in the United States. Visiting there is a gas of an idea and it'd be marvelous to have a hit record in a country which has produced so many greats.

Q: Do you spend much money on food?

A: I eat simple stuff. I've tried all sorts of delicacies but honestly can't say I like anything more than a good old steak.

Q: Any dislikes about the group business?

A: Yes . . . one. It doesn't apply so much now, but I used to hate travelling to a job on public transport — be it train, bus or train. Now, as I've said, it's not . . . or hard!

Q: Any special memory?

A: With the help of the fans, there's been a lot. But I think actually playing harmonica with the great Bo Diddley was probably the greatest. You don't forget the day a long-standing dream comes true.

Q: Who has been most helpful since you turned professional?

A: Our co-managers Eric Easton and Andrew Oldham, of course, but I'll never forget the early words of praise from the Beatles.
