The most obvious reason why children and grown-ups love a Potter book is that it is a great reading. J. K. Rowling is a wonderful storyteller and the books are simply engrossing. The idea of readers watching Harry grow up before their eyes with each book, is itself startlingly original. Fantasy and magic always fascinate and these books are all about them. Moreover, Rowling's crisp language and humour make up for an interesting read. It would be interesting to speculate on whether these books would have been successful in another era. But they are certainly right for our times- fantasy sells. Star wars, Spiderman and Batman have all been highly successful. All these depict the superheroes as vulnerable.
