

Employment Law – Equality

Purpose of the Equality Act 2010:

- Secure equality of opportunity in relation to access to employment
- Ensure employers decisions are based purely on merit and not personal characteristics
- Prevent harassment and victimisation of employees.

Protected Characteristics:

- Age (s.5)
- Disability (s.6)
- Gender reassignment (s.7)
- Marriage and Civil partnership (s.8)
- Race (s.9)
 - Race = colour, nationality, ethnic or national origins (s.9 (1))
 - Nationality as distinct from 'national origins'
 - Ethnic groups - Mandla v Dowell Lee (1983)
- Religion or belief (s.10)
- Sex (s.11)
 - The biological state of being a man or a woman
- Sexual orientation (s.12)
- Pregnancy and maternity (s.18)

Direct Discrimination: Section 13

An employee is less favourably treated because of a protected characteristic (s13(1))

S.13 does not say that the claimant must have a protected characteristic, so associative discrimination is possible. Zarczyńska v Levy (1978):

- A white barmaid was dismissed for refusing to turn away black customers.
- She claimed in race discrimination.
- Held: Treating people less favourably not because of their race but because of the race of others is also discrimination on grounds of race.
- The black customers were not in fact treated less favourably, as the white employee refused to carry out the unlawful order to treat them less favourably.
- It was the white employee who was treated less favourably 'on racial grounds' because he was dismissed for refusing to carry out his employer's racially discriminatory policy or practice to discriminate against others on racial grounds.

Treatment must be 'because of' a protected characteristic.

Shamoon v Royal Ulster Constabulary (2003) - did the claimant receive less favourable treatment than the appropriate comparator? Was the less favourable treatment because of a protected issue?

The motivation of the discriminator is irrelevant to liability

James v Eastleigh BC (1990):

- J appealed against dismissal of his claim that he had been unfairly discriminated against due to his sex.
- J and his wife, both aged 61, used a local authority swimming pool.
- As J's wife was over the pensionable age for women she was admitted free, but J being under 65 years old had to pay.
- EBC relied on the statutory definition of pensionable age given in the Social Security Act 1975 s.27 and argued that the condition of pensionable age applied equally to men and women.

Merging Numeracy with Literacy Practices for Equity in Multilingual Early Year Settings Robyn Jorgensen, Mellony Graven, 2022-01-01 This book draws on both in and out of school literacy practices with teachers and families to enhance the numeracy of early learners. It provides highly illustrative exemplars targeted for learners up to approximately eight years of age whose home language differs from the language of instruction. It identifies the challenges faced by these learners and their families and shares ways of building both literacy and numeracy skills for some of the vulnerable learners nationally and internationally. The book shares the outcomes and strategies for teaching mathematics to early years learners and highlights the importance of literacy practices for learners for whom the language of instruction is different from their home language. Readers will gain a practical sense of how to create contexts, classrooms and practices to scaffold these learners to build robust understandings of mathematics.
