Promt: It has been said that the United States is "A New World," "A Land of Opportunity," "A Place to Belong," and "The Land of the Free." Choose one of those statements about what America is, and explore it through research and argument. Is is true? Is it only true for some people? Where does the statement come from? Was it true then, but is not true now? What are some examples that either prove or disprove your answer to those questions?

American Opportunity: For Whites Only

In 1936, a Black poet wrote of a "young man, full of strength and hope, tangled in an ancient endless chain of profit, power, and gain" (Hughes 25-27). This "young man," that Langston Hughes eluded to at the beight of American class conflict was not a young man from the impoverished countries of Africa or the war-torn lands of Europe. Instead, he was an American. The young American he wrote about is the epitome of most Americans, ones with hopes and dreams of succeeding in a country that promised opportunity to the rich born in upscale New York neighborhoods, but also the poor Blacks growing up in cramped inner-city slums. Opportunity in America, however, is not so straightforward. For Hughes's "American," they were, and still are, representative of a class of Americans stuck at the bottom of society by a steadfast goal to steal opportunity from people looked at as an obstacle to the capitalist dream. Opportunity for most Americans, contrary to the "rags to riches" selling point of the American dream, is not an uninterrupted path toward economic mobility. Often, the path of opportunity is a path for the rich only, nonexistent for the Americans who can not buy into opportunity.
