1st Semester Exam Study Guide

SCIENTIFIC METHOD

1. Why it is important for scientists to be skeptical? If a scientist is skeptical of the results of an experiment, what should he usually do?

Skepticism is one of the most valuable tools in science. Continual questioning of ideas and results is a means of overturning long-held assumptions and uncovering new ideas. A skeptic in science will continually review the credibility of a scientific result or idea.

2. What makes an experiment valid?

When the results give validity to the question (hypothesis) that is being asked or tested.

3. What is the difference between qualitative and quantitative data?

Qualitative Data is used to describe something using your 5 senses. Quantitative Data is when you describe something using numbers.

EARTH SCIENCE

4. What are the 4 layers of the Earth?

Inner core, outer core, mantle and crust

5. What are the two types of crust? What types of rock are they made of? Which type is more dense?

Continental – granite and Oceanic – basalt, oceanic is more dense

6. Which layer of the Earth is made of the crust plus the upper mantle (this layer is rigid and brittle like a jolly rancher)?

Lithosphere

7. Which layer of the Earth is plastic and flowing (like silly putty)?

Asthenosphere

8. Which layer (asthenosphere or lithosphere) is broken into large pieces called plates?

Lithosphere

9. Which layer (asthenosphere or lithosphere) carries the plates?

Asthenosphere

10. What process causes the tectonic plates to move?

Convection currents

11. What are the three types of plate boundaries? Describe how the plates move at each (toward each other, away from each other, or slide past each other).

Convergent – Plates come together/collide, Divergent – plates move away from each other/divide, Transform – plates slide past each other/shear

12. Describe what happens when the following plates collide:

- a. Continental crust collides with continental crust – mountains
- b. Continental crust collides with oceanic crust – subduction zone, oceanic trench and volcanoes, rift valleys
- c. Oceanic crust collides with oceanic crust - volcanoes

13. Where are ALMOST all volcanoes formed?

Volcanoes are most commonly found at subduction zone boundaries. This is where the thinner oceanic plates get pulled under the thicker continental plates. As the plates go deeper, they melt and form pockets of magma which can cause mountains to be built and as the hot magma rises, it erupts out of volcanoes.

14. What is a hot-spot volcano?

This is an extra hot plume of molten rock which causes the earth's crust to thin allowing molten rock to escape onto the surface. The movement of the earth's tectonic plates means that volcanoes form a trail along the earth's surface.

15. What occurs when too much stress builds up at a plate boundary and the rock finally breaks?

Earthquake

Gerassimos Arapis,Nadezhda Goncharova,Philippe Baveye,2006-02-09 The science of ecotoxicology and the practice of ecological risk assessment are evolving rapidly Ecotoxicology as a subject area came into prominence in the 1960s after the publication of Rachel Carson s book on the impact of pesticides on the environment The rise of public and scientific concern for the effects of chemical pollutants on the environment in the 1960s and 1970s led to the development of the discipline of ecotoxicology a science that takes into account the effects of chemicals in the context of ecology Until the early 1980s in spite of public concern and interest among scientists the assessment of ecological risks associated with natural or synthetic pollutants was not considered a priority issue by most government However as the years passed a better understanding of the importance of ecotoxicology emerged and with it in some countries the progressive formalization of an ecological risk assessment process Ecological risk assessment is a conceptual tool for organizing and analyzing data and information to evaluate the likelihood that one or more stressors are causing or will cause adverse ecological effects Ecological risk assessment allows risk managers to consider available scientific information when selecting a course of action in addition to other factors that may affect their decision e g social legal political or economic Ecological risk assessment includes three phases problem formulation analysis and risk characterization
