What Fuels the Boom Drives the Bust Jihad Dagher, Mr. Ning Fu, 2011-09-01 We show that the lightly regulated non bank mortgage originators contributed disproportionately to the recent boom bust housing cycle Using comprehensive data on mortgage originations which we aggregate at the county level we first establish that the market share of these independent non bank lenders increased in virtually all US counties during the boom We then exploit the heterogeneity in the market share of independent lenders across counties as of 2005 and show that higher market participation by these lenders is associated with increased foreclosure filing rates at the onset of the housing downturn We carefully control for counties economic demographic and housing market characteristics using both parametric and semi nonparametric methods We show that this relation between the pre crisis market share of independents and the rise in foreclosure is more pronounced in less regulated states The macroeconomic consequences of our findings are significant we show that the market share of these lenders as of 2005 is also a strong predictor of the severity of the housing downturn and subsequent rise in unemployment Overall our findings lend support to the view that more stringent regulation could have averted some of the volatility on the housing market during the recent boom bust episode American Book Publishing Record ,2005 International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home ,2012-10-09 Available online via SciVerse ScienceDirect or in print for a limited time only The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home Seven Volume Set is the first international reference work for housing scholars and professionals that uses studies in economics and finance psychology social policy sociology anthropology geography architecture law and other disciplines to create an international portrait of housing in all its facets from meanings of home at the microscale to impacts on macro economy This comprehensive work is edited by distinguished housing expert Susan J Smith together with Marja Elsinga Ong Seow Eng Lorna Fox O Mahony and Susan Wachter and a multi disciplinary editorial team of 20 world class scholars in all Working at the cutting edge of their subject liaising with an expert editorial advisory board and engaging with policy makers and professionals the editors have worked for almost five years to secure the quality reach relevance and coherence of this work A broad and inclusive table of contents signals or testifies to detailed investigation of historical and theoretical material as well as in depth analysis of current issues This seven volume set contains over 500 entries listed alphabetically but grouped into seven thematic sections including methods and approaches economics and finance environments home and homelessness institutions policy and welfare and well being Housing professionals both academics and practitioners will find The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home useful for teaching discovery and research needs International in scope engaging with trends in every world region The editorial board and contributors are drawn from a wide constituency collating expertise from academics policy makers professionals and practitioners and from every key center for housing research Every entry stands alone on its merits and is accessed alphabetically yet each is fully cross referenced and attached to one of seven thematic categories whose wholes far exceed
