Lymphocytes in MS and EAE: More than just a CD4+ World Manu Rangachari,Nathalie Arbour,Steven M Kerfoot,Jorge I Alvarez,2017-10-10 Multiple sclerosis is degenerative disease of the central nervous system CNS in which myelin destruction and axon loss leads to the accumulation of physical cognitive and mental deficits MS affects more than a million people worldwide and managing this chronic disease presents a significant health challenge Multiple lines of evidence indicate that MS is an autoimmune disorder in which immune cells launch an inflammatory attack targeting myelin antigens Indeed myelin reactive T cells and antibodies have been identified in MS patients and in animal models namely experimental autoimmune encephalomyelitis or EAE that recapitulate many features of human disease Animal model studies have demonstrated that T cells are both necessary and sufficient to initiate and sustain CNS autoimmunity However most MS animal models rely on the role played by CD4 T cells and partially replicate the multiple aspects of MS pathogenesis Thus research in the past has focused heavily on the contribution of CD4 T cells to the disease process searching PubMed for MS AND CD4 yields twice the results as corresponding searches for CD8 or B cell and four times that for NK cells While CD4 T cells may represent the minimum requirement to mediate CNS autoimmunity it is clear that the immune response underlying human MS is far more complex and involves numerous other immune cells and subsets This is well illustrated by the observation that MS patients treated with an anti CD4 depleting antibody did not gain any clinical benefits whereas removal of several lymphocyte subsets using an anti CD52 depleting antibody has been shown to impede disease progression In particular the pathogenic role s of non CD4 T cell lymphocytes is relatively poorly understood and under researched despite evidence that these subsets contribute to disease pathology or regulation For example the observed oligoclonal expansion of CD8 T cells within the CNS compartment supports a local activation CD8 T cells with polarized cytolytic granules are seen in close proximity to oligodendrocytes and demyelinated axons in MS tissues The presence of B cells in inflammatory lesions and antibodies in the CSF have long been recognized as features of MS and Rituximab a B cell depleting therapy has been shown to be highly effective to treat MS Intriguingly the putative MS therapeutic reagent Daclizumab may function in part through the expansion of a subset of immunoregulatory NK cells NKT and T cells may also play a role in CNS autoimmunity given that they respond to lipid antigens and that myelin is lipid rich While different animal models recapitulate some of these aspects of human disease identifying appropriate models and measures to investigate the role of these less well understood lymphocytes in MS remains a challenge for the field This Frontiers research topic aims to create a platform for both animal and human focused researchers to share their original data hypotheses future perspectives and commentaries regarding the role of these less well understood lymphocyte subsets CD8 T cells B cells NK cells NK T cells T cells in the pathogenesis of CNS autoimmunity Cumulated Index Medicus

Giese, Oliver Stork, 2022-01-11 The Value Line Daily Options Survey, 2001 Polymer Science: A Comprehensive Reference, 2012-12-05 The progress in polymer science is revealed in the chapters of Polymer Science A Comprehensive Reference Ten Volume Set In Volume 1 this is reflected in the improved understanding of the properties of polymers in solution in bulk and in confined situations such as in thin films Volume 2 addresses new characterization techniques such as high resolution optical microscopy scanning probe microscopy and other procedures for surface and interface characterization Volume 3 presents the great progress achieved in precise synthetic polymerization techniques for vinyl monomers to control macromolecular architecture the development of metallocene and post metallocene catalysis for olefin polymerization new ionic polymerization procedures and atom transfer radical polymerization nitroxide mediated polymerization and reversible addition fragmentation chain transfer systems as the most often used controlled living radical polymerization methods Volume 4 is devoted to kinetics mechanisms and applications of ring opening polymerization of heterocyclic monomers and cycloolefins ROMP as well as to various less common polymerization techniques Polycondensation and non chain polymerizations including dendrimer synthesis and various click procedures are covered in Volume 5 Volume 6 focuses on several aspects of controlled macromolecular architectures and soft nano objects including hybrids and bioconjugates Many of the achievements would have not been possible without new characterization techniques like AFM that allowed direct imaging of single molecules and nano objects with a precision available only recently An entirely new aspect in polymer science is based on the combination of bottom up methods such as polymer synthesis and molecularly programmed self assembly with top down structuring such as lithography and surface templating as presented in Volume 7 It encompasses polymer and nanoparticle assembly in bulk and under confined conditions or influenced by an external field including thin films inorganic organic hybrids or nanofibers Volume 8 expands these concepts focusing on applications in advanced technologies e g in electronic industry and centers on combination with top down approach and functional properties like conductivity Another type of functionality that is of rapidly increasing importance in polymer science is introduced in volume

9 It deals with various aspects of polymers in biology and medicine including the response of living cells and tissue to the contact with biofunctional particles and surfaces The last volume is devoted to the scope and potential provided by environmentally benign and green polymers as well as energy related polymers They discuss new technologies needed for a sustainable economy in our world of limited resources Provides broad and in depth coverage of all aspects of polymer science from synthesis polymerization properties and characterization methods and techniques to nanostructures sustainability and energy and biomedical uses of polymers Provides a definitive source for those entering or researching in this area by integrating the multidisciplinary aspects of the science into one unique up to date reference work Electronic version has complete cross referencing and multi media components Volume editors are world experts in their field including a Nobel Prize winner Promadata, Promotion, Marketing & Advertising Data ,1972 Includes index Progress in drug research. 49.1997 Ernst Jucker,1997 From the contents A C Brater and M D Murray The effects of NSAIDs on the kidney A G Edwards and A H Weston Latest developments in potassium channel modulator drugs A M R Juchau and Y Huang Chemical teratogenesis in humans Biochemical and molecular mechanisms A S P Gupta Studies on cardiovascular drugs A G Polak Antifungal chemotherapy An everlasting battle A O Valdenaire New insights into the bioamine receptor family
