involving transversely polarised hadrons demands a more solid and coherent theoretical basis for its description. Indeed it now appears rather clear that transversity and other closely related properties play a significant role in such phenomena. As part of a Ministry funded inter university Research Project this workshop was organised to gather together experimentalists and theoreticians engaged in investigating the nature of transverse spin in hadronic physics with the intent of favouring the exchange of up to date theoretical and experimental ideas and news on the subject. Over 70 physicists took part and very nearly all the major experiments involved in transverse spin studies were officially represented as too were the main theory groups working in the field. New results and new analyses sparked many interesting and lively discussions.
