The Materiality of Narrative Dynamics Stefan Iversen, Evan Van Tassel, 2025-06-02 The dynamic nature of storytelling has long been one of the major concerns of narrative research but relatively little scholarship has engaged with the relationship between storytelling dynamics and the underlying material forms of cultural texts This volume seeks to remedy this by asking questions such as How might the affordances of new media guide audience reception in subtle ways How might the dynamism of legacy media be better recognized when examined through a multimedial lens How do the physical processes of production define the horizons of both authorial activity and audience response The insight that drives these investigations is two fold first that functions and effects of narratives are deeply intertwined with material forces of production distribution and reception and second that an analysis of any specific narrative must include attention to these material matters and how they affect the unfolding of stories over time

The chapters in this collection explore interplays between material forces and narrative dynamics across a range of genres and intellectual arenas In doing so they both fill gaps in current methodological frameworks and call attention to the many gaps that are yet to be filled

Santin, 2023-10-12 Surveying the relationship between American politics and the twentieth century novel this volume analyzes how political movements ideas and events shaped the American novel It also shows how those political phenomena were shaped in turn by long form prose fiction The book is made up of three major sections The first section considers philosophical ideologies and broad political movements that were both politically and literarily significant in the twentieth century United States including progressive liberalism conservatism socialism and communism feminism and Black liberation movements The second section analyzes the evolving political valences of key popular genres and literary forms in the twentieth century American novel focusing on crime fiction science fiction postmodern metafiction and immigrant fiction The third section examines ten diverse politically minded novels that serve as exemplary case studies across the century Combining detailed literary analysis with innovative political theory this Companion provides a groundbreaking study of the politics of twentieth century American fiction

Spatialities of Speculative Fiction Gwilym Lucas Eades, 2023-11-09 This book examines science fiction fantasy and horror novels utilizing a conceptual toolkit of the ten duties of speculative fiction Building on previous work in the discipline of geography it will demonstrate the value of speculation in the visualisation of Anthropocene futures The book presents insights into how novels produce specifically geographical knowledge about the world spatialities and how they use both literal maps and figurative counter mappings to comment upon and shape futures This book is about much more than science fiction It covers areas of literature and para literature associated with the fantastic and as such looks also at works of fantasy and horror The areas of overlap between these three categories of fantastic literature are posited as the most productive in the terms by which this book navigates namely spatiality The book will explore through the critical examination of a selection of key works of speculative fiction how science fictional and fantastic narratives are spatialized through both conceptual and literal mappings This book is intended for both an academic and practitioner and for people interested in both producing scholarly commentary upon works of speculative fiction and for those writing speculative fiction and novels

Computational Approaches To Conscious Artificial Intelligence Antonio Chella, 2023-07-14 Artificial Intelligence AI has seen rapid advancements in recent years particularly in the areas of deep learning and the ability to generalize from concrete objects to abstract concepts Meanwhile in the study of machine consciousness a universally agreed definition among scientists and philosophers is still lacking This book raises a number of issues surrounding the nature and implications of conscious artificial intelligence This edited volume consists of 10 chapters that highlight the prospects of machine consciousness and study the subject from several perspectives The issues are wide ranging and include topics such as the metaverse a computational approach to pain and suffering universal cognitive intelligence intentional action the categorization of conscious machines and more The volume is designed as a reference guide for researchers practitioners and students interested in the intersection of AI and consciousness

Contemporary Science Fiction and The Many-Worlds Interpretation of Quantum Mechanics Jonathan P. Lewis, 2025-10-02 This book seeks to create a new means of interrogating the direction in which contemporary science fiction is progressing In the late 1950s Hugh Everett III suggested that there is no way to say that there are not as many versions of what we experience as reality as there are particles in the universe This movement in contemporary science fiction serves as the foreground for the sense of loss and the need for sacrifice to set things right after generations of technological praxis by the nations and communities that have traditionally driven science fiction the Global North that have damaged communities throughout the Global South Colonialism and the drives for spheres of influence in the Cold War are now being met with the realities of such existential threats as global climate change Narratives about the loss of control over time reality and human consciousness demonstrate the on going ideological crises of faith in institutions like religion capitalism and education It is the grief for lost utopian dreams for the future that drives this interest in Everett's Many
