Second, identify each of the elements of the intrinsic conduction system (numbers 1-5 on the figure) by inserting the appropriate terms in the blanks left of the figure. Then, indicate with green arrows the pathway that impulses take through this system.

Third, correctly identify each of the heart valves (numbers 6-9 on the figure) by inserting the appropriate terms in the blanks left of the figure, and draw in and identify by name the cordlike structures that anchor the flaps of the atrioventricular (AV) valves.

Fourth, use the numbers from the figure to identify the structures described below. Place the numbers in the lettered answer blanks.

The answer to each question is accompanied by an explanation. Each category has an introduction to set the scene for the questions to come. However, not all possible information is provided within these introductions, so an Anatomy and Physiology textbook is an indispensable aid to understanding the answers. The questions have been used in end of semester examinations for undergraduate anatomy and physiology courses and as such reflect the focus of these particular courses and are pitched at this level to challenge students that are beginning their training in anatomy and physiology. The question and answer combinations are intended for use by teachers to select questions for their next examinations and by students when studying for an upcoming test. Students enrolled in the courses for which these questions were written include nursing, midwifery, paramedic, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, nutrition, and dietetics, health sciences, exercise science, and students taking an anatomy and physiology course as an elective.
