Animals As Religious Subjects Celia Deane-Drummond, David Clough, Rebecca Artinian-Kaiser, 2013 Animals as Religious Subjects Celia Deane-Drummond, Rebecca Artinian-Kaiser, David L. Clough, 2013-08-15 This book examines one of the most pressing cultural concerns that surfaced in the last decade the question of the place and significance of the animal This collection of essays represents the outcome of various conversations regarding the animal studies and shows multidisciplinary at its very best namely a rigorous approach within one discipline in conversation with others around a common theme The contributors discuss the most relevant disciplines regarding this conversation namely philosophy anthropology religious studies theology history of religions archaeology and cultural studies The first section Thinking about Animals explores philosophical anthropological and religious perspectives raising general questions about the human perception of animals and its crucial cultural significance The second section explores the intriguing topic of the way animals have been used historically as religious symbols and in religious rituals The third section re examines some Christian theological and biblical approaches to animals in the light of current concerns The final section extends the implications of traditional views about other animals to more specific ethical theories and practices Theological Ethics Through a Multispecies Lens Celia Deane-Drummond, 2019 This book is the first volume on the evolution of wisdom Using a combination of ethnographic and ethological studies it shows how key moral attributes of compassion justice and wisdom are woven into relationships with animals Grounding Religion Whitney A. Bauman, Richard Bohannon, Kevin J. O'Brien, 2023-09-29 Now in its third edition Grounding Religion explores relationships between the environment and religious beliefs and practices Established scholars introduce students to the ways religion shapes and is shaped by human earth relations surveying a series of key issues and questions with particular attention to issues of environmental degradation social justice ritual practices and religious worldviews Case studies discussion questions and further readings enrich students experience This third edition features updated content including revisions of every chapter and new material on religion and the environmental humanities sexuality and queer studies class ability privilege and power environmental justice extinction biodiversity and politics An excellent text for undergraduates and graduates alike it offers an expansive overview of the academic field of religion and ecology as it has emerged in the past fifty years and continues to develop today Animals and Animality in the Babylonian Talmud Beth A. Berkowitz, 2018-04-19 Animals and Animality in the Babylonian Talmud selects key themes in animal studies animal intelligence morality sexuality suffering danger personhood and explores their development in the Babylonian Talmud Beth A Berkowitz demonstrates that distinctive features of the Talmud the new literary genre the convergence of Jewish Christian and Zoroastrian cultures the Talmud's remove from Temple centered biblical Israel led to unprecedented possibilities within Jewish culture for conceptualizing animals and animality She explores their development in the Babylonian Talmud showing how it is ripe for reading with a critical animal studies perspective

When we do we find waiting for us a multi layered surprisingly self aware discourse about animals as well as about the anthropocentrism that infuses human relationships with them For readers of religion Judaism and animal studies her book offers new perspectives on animals from the vantage point of the ancient rabbis Evolution and the Fall Cavanaugh & Smith,2017 What does it mean for the Christian doctrine of the Fall if there was no historical Adam If humanity emerged from nonhuman primates as genetic biological and archaeological evidence seems to suggest then what are the implications for a Christian understanding of human origins including the origin of sin Evolution and the Fall gathers a multidisciplinary ecumenical team of scholars to address these difficult questions and others like them from the perspectives of biology theology history Scripture philosophy and politics CONTRIBUTORS William T Cavanaugh Celia Deane Drummond Darrel R Falk Joel B Green Michael Gulker Peter Harrison J Richard Middleton Aaron Riches James K A Smith Brent Waters Norman Wirzba City Creatures Gavin Van Horn,Dave Aftandilian,2015-11-03 This anthology explores Chicago s surprisingly diverse wildlife through essays poetry paintings and photographs We usually think of cities as the domain of humans but we are just one of thousands of species that call the urban landscape home While Chicago residents are likely familiar with squirrels pigeons and dogs many would be surprised to learn about the leafhoppers and water bears black crowned night herons and bison beavers and massasauga rattlesnakes that are living alongside them City Creatures introduces readers these and other creatures through a variety of creative contributions Contributors bring a story based approach to this urban safari taking readers on birding expeditions to the Magic Hedge at Montrose Harbor on the North Side canoe trips down the South Fork of the Chicago River better known as Bubbly Creek and insect collecting forays or restoration work days in the suburban forest preserves The book is organized into six sections each highlighting one type of place in which people might encounter animals in the city and suburbs For example schoolyard chickens and warrior wasps populate Backyard Diversity and a chorus of deep freeze frogs awaits in Water Worlds Its powerful combination of insightful narratives numinous poetry and full color art will help readers see the city and the creatures who share it with us in an entirely new light

Encountering Earth Trevor George Hunsberger Bechtel,Matt Eaton,Tim Harvie,2018-05-14 One day Matthew Eaton was walking through an impromptu animal shelter display at his local pet store when suddenly an eight month old kitten dug his claws into Eaton s flesh Eaton recognized that the eyes of this cat and the curve of his claw compelled a response analogous to those found in the writings of Buber Levinas and Derrida And not just Eaton but a whole community of theologians have found themselves in an encounter with particular places and animals that demands rich theological reflection Eaton enlisted fellow editors Harvie and Bechtel to collect the essays in this volume in which theologians listen to horses rats snakes cats dogs and the earth itself who become new theological voices demanding a response In this volume the voice of the more than human world is heard as making theology possible These essays suggest that what we say theologically represents not simply ideas of our own making subsequently superimposed onto the natural world through our own discovery but rather flow from an expressive Earth Laudato Si' and the Environment Robert McKim, 2019-09-11 This volume is a response to Pope Francis environmental encyclical Laudato Si Published in 2015 the encyclical urges us to face up to the crisis of climate change and to take better care of the Earth our common home while also attending to the plight of the poor In this book the Pope's invitation to all people to begin a new dialogue about these matters is considered from a variety of perspectives by an international and multidisciplinary team of leading scholars There is discussion of the implications of Laudato Si for immigration population control eating animals and property ownership Additionally indigenous religious perspectives development and environmental protection and the implementation of the ideas of the encyclical within the Church are explored Some chapters deal with scriptural or philosophical aspects of the encyclical Others focus on central concepts such as interconnectedness the role of practice and what Pope Francis calls the technocratic paradigm This book expertly illuminates the relationship between Laudato Si and environmental concerns It will be of deep interest to anyone studying religion and the environment environmental ethics Catholic theology or environmental thought Animals as Religious Subjects Celia Deane-Drummond, Rebecca Artinian-Kaiser, 2013 Meat Matters Hagar Salamon, 2023-04-04 Meat Matters offers a portrait of the lives of Ethiopian Jews as it is reflected and refracted through the symbolism of meat Drawing upon thirty years of fieldwork this beautifully written and innovatively constructed ethnography tells the story of the Beta Israel who began immigrating from Ethiopia to Israel in the 1970s Once in Israel their world changed in formerly unimaginable ways such as conversion under Rabbinic restrictions moving into multistory buildings different attitudes toward gender and reproduction and perhaps above all the newly acquired distinctiveness of the color of their bodies In the face of such changes the Beta Israel held on to a key idiom in their lives meat The community continues to be organized into kirchas groups of friends and family who purchase and raise cows then butcher and divide the animal's body into small and equal chunks which are distributed among the kircha through a lottery ritual Flowing back and forth between Ethiopia to Israel Meat Matters follows the many strands of significance surrounding cows and meat ultimately forming a vibrant web of meaning at the heart of the Beta Israel community today Christian Faith and the Earth Ernst M. Conradie, Sigurd Bergmann, Celia Deane-Drummond, Denis Edwards, 2014-05-08 A star crossed love story with shades of The Thomas Crown Affair from critically acclaimed author Daisy Whitney Everyday Ethics Michael Lamb, Brian A. Williams, 2019-10-01 What might we learn if the study of ethics focused less on hard cases and more on the practices of everyday life In Everyday Ethics Michael Lamb and Brian Williams gather some of the world's leading scholars and practitioners of moral theology including some GUP authors to explore that question in dialogue with anthropology and the social sciences Inspired by the work of Michael Banner these scholars cross disciplinary boundaries to analyze the ethics of ordinary practices from eating learning and loving thy neighbor to borrowing and spending using technology and working in a flexible economy Along the way they consider the moral and methodological questions that emerge from this interdisciplinary dialogue and assess the implications for the future of moral theology Divinanimality Stephen D. Moore, 2014-09-15 A turn to the animal is underway in the humanities most obviously in such fields as philosophy literary studies cultural studies and religious studies One important catalyst for this development has been the remarkable body of animal theory issuing from such thinkers as Jacques Derrida and Donna Haraway What might the resulting interdisciplinary field commonly termed animality studies mean for theology biblical studies and other cognate disciplines Is it possible to move from animal theory to creaturely theology This volume is the first full length attempt to grapple centrally with these questions It attempts to triangulate philosophical and theoretical reflections on animality and humanity with theological reflections on divinity If the animal human distinction is being rethought and retheorized as never before then the animal human divine distinctions need to be rethought retheorized and retheologized along with it This is the task that the multidisciplinary team of theologians biblical scholars philosophers and historians assembled in this volume collectively undertakes They do so frequently with recourse to Derrida's animal philosophy and also with recourse to an eclectic range of other relevant thinkers such as Haraway Giorgio Agamben Emmanuel Levinas Gloria Anzaldua Helene Cixous A N Whitehead and Lynn White Jr The result is a volume that will be essential reading for religious studies audiences interested in ecological issues animality studies and posthumanism as well as for animality studies audiences interested in how constructions of the divine have informed constructions of the nonhuman animal through history

A evolução e a queda: Implicações da ciência moderna para a teologia cristã (Coleção Fé, Ciência e Cultura) James K. A. Smith, William T. Cavanaugh, 2021-03-15 A pergunta que sempre feita Como ficam as doutrinas da Queda e do Pecado Original se a evolução biológica realmente ocorreu Há mais de 150 anos a teoria da evolução biológica proposta por Charles Darwin e Alfred Wallace vem sendo discutida e debatida tanto por seus méritos científicos quanto pelas suas implicações e aplicações em diversas áreas do conhecimento Mas sem dúvida o debate mais acalorado se deve sua interação com a religião cristã especialmente por causa dos desafios que coloca tradicional doutrina da Queda e doutrina do Pecado Original Se os seres humanos são fruto de um longo processo evolutivo do qual emergiram como descendentes de primatas não humanos qual seriam as implicações para um entendimento cristão das origens humanas e da origem do pecado Há possibilidade de acomodação para um Adão e Eva históricos no relato evolutivo das origens humanas Se não quais as implicações para a doutrina da Queda e para a noção de uma Queda histórica A evolução e a Queda traz tona a contribuição de uma equipe multidisciplinar e ecumênica de estudiosos de primeira linha para discutir essas e outras complexas questões que envolvem perspectivas nas áreas de biologia teologia história estudos bíblicos filosofia e política On Animals David L.

Clough, 2014-01-02 This volume is a project in systematic theology a rigorous engagement with the Christian tradition in relation to animals under the doctrinal headings of creation reconciliation and redemption and in dialogue with the Bible and theological voices central to the tradition The book shows that such engagement with the tradition with the question of the animal in mind produces surprising answers that challenge modern anthropocentric assumptions For the most part therefore the novelty of the project lies in the questions raised rather than the proposal of innovative answers to it The transformation in our thinking about animals for which the book argues results in the main from looking squarely for the first time at the sum of what we are already committed to believing about other animals and their place in God's creation

A Communion of Subjects Paul Waldau, Kimberley Christine Patton, 2006-12-19 A Communion of Subjects is the first comparative and interdisciplinary study of the conceptualization of animals in world religions Scholars from a wide range of disciplines including Thomas Berry cultural history Wendy Doniger study of myth Elizabeth Lawrence veterinary medicine ritual studies Marc Bekoff cognitive ethology Marc Hauser behavioral science Steven Wise animals and law Peter Singer animals and ethics and Jane Goodall primatology consider how major religious traditions have incorporated animals into their belief systems myths rituals and art Their findings offer profound insights into humans relationships with animals and a deeper understanding of the social and ecological web in which we all live Contributors examine Judaism Christianity Islam Hinduism Buddhism Jainism Daoism Confucianism African religions traditions from ancient Egypt and early China and Native American indigenous Tibetan and Australian Aboriginal traditions among others They explore issues such as animal consciousness suffering sacrifice and stewardship in innovative methodological ways They also address contemporary challenges relating to law biotechnology social justice and the environment By grappling with the nature and ideological features of various religious views the contributors cast religious teachings and practices in a new light They reveal how we either intentionally or inadvertently marginalize others whether they are human or otherwise reflecting on the ways in which we assign value to living beings Though it is an ancient concern the topic of Religion and Animals has yet to be systematically studied by modern scholars This groundbreaking collection takes the first steps toward a meaningful analysis

On Animals David L. Clough, 2020-06-11 This book presents an authoritative and comprehensive survey of human practice in relation to other animals together with a Christian ethical analysis building on the theological account of animals which David Clough developed in On Animals Volume I Systematic Theology 2012 It argues that a Christian understanding of other animals has radical implications for their treatment by humans with the human use and abuse of non human animals for food the most urgent immediate priority Following an introduction examining the task of theological ethics in relation to non human animals and the way it relates to other accounts of animal ethics this book surveys and assesses the use humans make of other animals for food for clothing for labour as research subjects for sport and entertainment as pets or companions and human impacts on wild animals The result is both a state of the art account of what humans are doing to other animals and a persuasive argument that Christians in particular have strong faith based reasons to acknowledge the significance of the issues raised and change their practice in response

Animals, Theology and the Incarnation Kris Hiuser, 2017-06-12 In this book Kris Hiuser argues that if we are called to represent God to creation and creation to God then this has considerable bearing on understanding what it means to be human as well as informing human action towards non human creatures

Creatures of the Same God Andrew Linzey, 2009 I don't know why you're spending all your time on this. They're only animals for heaven's sake. That was the reaction of one of Andrew Linzey's fellow students at King's College London when he was studying theology in the 1970s. Since then the now Rev Dr Andrew Linzey has been arguing that animals aren't only anything but rather that they matter to God and should do so to us. In this collection of essays Linzey counters with his customary wit, erudition and insight some contemporary and perhaps surprising challenges to animal rights from ecotheologians, the Church and politicians. He contends that far from the sometimes shallow judgments of those who think animals unworthy of theological consideration, the Christian tradition has a wellspring of sources and resources available to taking animals seriously. Instead of being marginal to the Christian experience, Linzey concludes, animals can take their rightful place alongside human beings as creatures of the same God. There is a long forgotten spiritual tradition that two children, both named Jesus, were born in Bethlehem to two sets of parents named Joseph and Mary. This tradition is supported by the different accounts of the nativity and life of Jesus Christ in the gospels of Matthew and Luke. Although the Church chose to ignore this tradition, something of it survived in early Christian art and symbolism. The full tradition was preserved only in the literature of esoteric sects such as Gnosticism, which remained outside the official teachings of institutionalized Christianity.
