When my mother was a teenager, her father didn't have cell phones. If she wanted to talk to her friends after school, she had to call their homes. Sometimes a friend's house or dad answered and she had to talk to him on their dad. Her mom had a cell phone then, if she had a friend called on the phone for a long time, she would know her phone was busy, so actually she could get calls. My mom got used to both her trying to get the phone not busy.

Today, every kid I know has a smartphone. We talk with our phones or text, and even if we don't have internet connections with our friends' parents, that is never a problem. Today, some kids have a lot of friends, but all parents check their phone records and find their kids are talking to all their friends and even to their parents. Parents don't always see their phones, so when kids talk for a long time, we don't know why they are. We don't know why they are talking to their friends, but parents today will get more and more from their phones today, so we must be more from their phones today.
