

MEMORANDUM FROM THE SECRETARY

TO : All Heads of Offices, Bureaus and Agencies of the Presidential Communications Operations Office (PCOO), and All Others Concerned

SUBJECT : PCOO SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

DATE : __ February 2017

I. POLICY STATEMENT

In the interest of recognizing emerging communication platforms and harnessing the full potential of social media tools in pursuit of the agency's mandate to engage the citizenry in order to enrich the quality of discourse on matters of national governance, the following shall be the social media policy of the Presidential Communications Operations Office (PCOO):

It is a policy of government to engage its citizens in order to improve service delivery. Government recognizes that knowledge and information circulate within and among the different sectors of society, and public officers stand to gain from having access to all such sources. Government should, therefore, use innovative tools, methods, and systems to communicate to the public.

Given the exponential growth of social media and the significant increase in use of social media tools, it is imperative for government to recognize and consider social media, alongside traditional media channels, in developing its communications strategy.

Government recognizes social media as the collective voice of the citizenry, and can be utilized to directly and quickly communicate with the people, both as a conduit for outgoing information and as a tool to engage in genuine two-way communication.

II. PURPOSE

The purpose of this memorandum are as follows: to recognize social media as a form of public communication and one source of information; to provide guidelines on the use of social media by PCOO personnel; set rules on content

Smith,2006-06-25 Green Republican chronicles the life of Congressman John Saylor and his personal legacy as an environmental champion Saylor believed the wilderness was intrinsic to the American experience that our concepts of democracy love of country conservation and independence were shaped by our wilderness experiences Through his ardent protection of national parks and diligent work to add new areas to the parks system Saylor helped propel the American environmental movement in the three decades following Word War II At the height of the federal dam building program in the 1950s and 1960s Saylor blocked efforts to erect hydroelectric dams whose impounded waters would have invaded Dinosaur National Monument and the Grand Canyon During the energy crisis of the early 1970s Saylor denounced attempts to open the Alaska National Wildlife Refuge to oil drilling He was the House architect of the Wilderness Act of 1964 and the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968 Because Saylor represented a coal mining district he doggedly promoted the use of coal instead of atomic or hydropower to generate electricity and repeatedly won the support of his constituents over thirteen terms between 1949 and 1973 But he also fervently supported legislation to purify the air and water and redeem stripped lands Considered both a maverick and a pioneer John Saylor won respect on both sides of the aisle because he was direct hardworking and passionate about conservation at a time when the cause was not popular Environmental leaders dubbed him St John because he tenaciously advocated their proposals and battled resistance by resource use proponents Based on extensive research and numerous interviews with Saylor s colleagues and members of the conservationist community Thomas G Smith assembles the remarkable story of John Saylor arguably the leading congressional conservationist of the twentieth century and a major force in the preservation of America s wilderness A Catalogue and Index of the Shelley Manuscripts in the Bodleian Library and a General Index to the Facsimile Edition of the Bodleian Shelley Manuscripts Tatsuo Tokoo,B.
