The transformation of rural areas and the broadly understood problems of their development have been the subject of scientific analyses and lively public debate for many years The ongoing discussions stem from a reflection on the increased effectiveness of rural development policies and the search for new approaches to their programming at the local level They are also the result of a growing feeling that it is necessary to achieve sustainable development objectives more effectively and reduce social and economic disparities between rural and urban areas Among the emerging challenges in the last decade the transition to an information society has come to the fore however it should be stressed that the changes taking place are dependent on global technological and digital development The fact that rural areas are inhabited by about one quarter of the European Union s population makes us aware of the importance of these changes in rural areas In Poland this proportion is much higher and amounts to 40% Being aware of this fact it may be assumed that adaptation to transformations cannot be treated as an opportunity but as a necessity as more and more activities are carried out in the virtual world The importance of digital and communication technologies has been reinforced in recent months due to the COVID 19 pandemic which has transferred some activities to the virtual sphere Equipping rural populations with digital and communications skills will make it possible to reduce distance thereby increasing accessibility to goods and services especially public ones In this context information and communication technologies ICT are treated as an opportunity to overcome development related difficulties However their use depends on access to the internet in a given area Its lack or poor coverage in a particular area deprives it of the opportunities for development based on smart technologies or smart initiatives As regards the local dimension it is not only digital technologies that are growing in importance but also activities aimed to improve broadly understood living conditions of rural residents also on a micro scale In these transformations people and their skills are of unique value and waiting passively for change does not make much sense In this context technology can only be a tool as human competences are becoming the major driver for the improvement of the standard of living and quality of life Well identified local human resources form the basis for social innovation and consequently contribute to increased resilience of rural areas allowing them to solve problems faced by local communities The transition to an information society understood in this way has a significantly broader context than digital and communication technologies and comprises a range of social and agri environmental issues

Theory and Explanation in Geography Henry Wai-chung Yeung,2023-10-09 THEORY AND EXPLANATION IN GEOGRAPHY With this book Henry Yeung puts Geography back into the driver s seat of new theory development Foregrounding mid range theories and mechanism based explanations he offers a pragmatic approach that has the capacity to shape the wider social sciences for years to come The timing of this intervention is pitch perfect as scholars search for ways to understand and intervene in an increasingly distrustful and polarized world KATHARYNE MITCHELL Distinguished Professor University of California Santa Cruz USA In Theory and Explanation in Geography Yeung presents us with a rare thing an argument for geographical theory with forms of causal explanation at its heart The book is both modest and ambitious Modest in its insistence on mid level theory without a call for some new turn or advocacy for any particular approach Ambitious in its insistence that existing theoretical traditions are inadequate or incomplete insofar as they lack causal explanatory power Geographers will be inspired and or infuriated by Yeung s arguments in this provocative and cogently argued call to theoretical arms for many years to come Tim Cresswell Ogilvie Professor of Geography University of Edinburgh UK Critical human geography possesses a distinctive theory culture pluralist

creative distributed restless contested prone to turning wary of orthodoxies and fixed positions In this original and provocative contribution the leading economic geographer Henry Yeung steps out beyond his home turf to engage styles and practices of theorizing across this diverse field carving out a new remit and rubric for middle range theorizing JAMIE PECK Canadian Research Chair and Distinguished University Scholar University of British Columbia Canada Grounded in a generous reading of a multitude of critical approaches in human geography and their diverse conceptions of theory Theory and Explanation in Geography draws upon cutting edge debates on the mechanism based approach to theory and explanation in analytical sociology political science and the philosophy of social sciences to inform current and future geographical thinking on theory This consolidated conceptual work represents an extension and much further development of the author's well cited works on relational geography critical realism and causal explanation process based methodology globalization and the theory of global production networks and theorizing back and situated knowledges that were published in leading journals in Geography The work has several chapters that identify new directions for Geography's current and future engagement with the wider social sciences and relevant research agendas in geographical thought Its main chapters provide the necessary conceptual toolkits for mobilizing such an expanding research program in the 2020s and beyond Compared to typical texts on geographical thought this book is less retrospective and historical and more prospective in nature Detailing why and how mid range explanatory theories can be better developed through causal mechanisms and relational thinking that have been revitalized in the social sciences Theory and Explanation in Geography is an essential read for academics geographers and scholars seeking unique perspective on an important facet of the field

Supporting Working-Class Students in Higher Education Nadine Cavigioli, Stacey Mottershaw, Rachael O'Connor, 2025-10-30 Placing a spotlight on the classism inherent in higher education this book highlights the realities that working class students face when navigating elite higher education spaces and the rewards and challenges of supporting these students in such spaces Drawing on the life experiences of academics of working class heritage and a Student Advisory Board each chapter is positioned around a myth which is debunked with examples practice student perspectives and research Alongside this the book serves as a support mechanism for practitioners to learn from working class experiences in order to improve their own practice and be able to support their working class students through the exploration of an intersectional class conscious pedagogy It argues that classism should be a central item on the agenda of all those working in higher education if they are truly committed to making institutions spaces where all students feel they belong and have a voice This ground breaking book will support and enhance the practice of anyone with a role that engages with or impacts upon the lives and experiences of historically excluded students whether directly through teaching pastoral and administrative support or indirectly through leadership governance and policy making Insider Guides to Success in Academia offers support and practical advice to doctoral students and early career researchers Covering the topics that really matter but which often get overlooked this indispensable series provides practical and realistic guidance to address many of the needs and challenges of trying to operate and remain in academia These neat pocket guides fill specific and significant gaps in current literature Each book offers insider perspectives on the often implicit rules of the game the things you need to know but usually aren't told by institutional postgraduate support researcher development units or supervisors and will address a practical topic that is key to career progression They are essential reading for doctoral students early career researchers supervisors mentors or anyone looking to launch or maintain their career in academia

Interplaces Nicholas A. Phelps, 2017 Much of the world's economic activity takes place in between cities and nations the geographical containers that we have taken for granted for hundreds of years now In this book Nicholas Phelps provides a guide to this uncharted territory within urban and economic geography He highlights the importance of intermediary actors and processes in shaping this economy in between From the airports shopping malls and office parks that have sprung up on the road between cities to work done on the move in cars and trains to the decisions made by internationally mobile networks of experts in conferences and negotiations The geography of the economy in between is revealed as one involving four recurring and coexisting economic geographical formations the agglomeration the enclave the networks and the arena Phelps sets out a multidisciplinary perspective and agenda on the question of the how why and where much contemporary economic activity takes place

Geopolitics and the Quest for Dominance Jeremy Black, 2015-11-25 History and geography delineate the operation of power not only its range but also the capacity to plan and the ability to implement Approaching state strategy and policy from the spatial angle Jeremy Black argues that just as the perception of power is central to issues of power so place and its constraints and relationships is partly a matter of perception not merely map coordinates Geopolitics he maintains is as much about ideas and perception as it is about the actual spatial dimensions of power Black's study ranges widely examining geography and the spatial nature of state power from the 15th century to the present day He considers the rise of British power geopolitics and the age of Imperialism the Nazis and World War II and the Cold War and he looks at the key theorists of the latter 20th century including Henry Kissinger Francis Fukuyama and Samuel P Huntington Philip Bobbitt Niall Ferguson and others

EduChange Methodology Jiří Pánek et al., Making Knowledge Together Addressing Climate Change through Innovative Place Based Education and Blended Learning is the official name of the Erasmus Strategic Partnership project shortly EduChange The project aimed to innovate our way of teaching about Climate Change in both local and global perspectives via the field course methodology It brought together students and teachers from four European universities University of Malta Utrecht University the Netherlands Norwegian University of Science and Technology Trondheim Norway and Palacky University Olomouc Czechia with an idea that teaching and learning in the field is often rather traditional and teacher led Through EduChange we wanted to transform field courses into innovative creative learning environments in which teachers students and pupils can create knowledge together We believe that supporting innovation and creativity can be achieved via international partnerships and inter and trans disciplinary approaches This book presents the overall methodology used during the EduChange project
