Child Injury and the Determinants of Health Amy Peden, Richard Franklin, 2021-03-23 The World Health Organization recognizes that injuries are the leading cause of death and disability to children after their first birthday. There is also high morbidity associated with injuries sustained in childhood, often affecting people for the rest of their lives. For every child who dies from injury, there are several thousand who require medical care, many who live with varying degrees of disability. Children and adolescents 0-19 years of age are at increased risk of mortality and morbidity due to injuries such as road traffic, burns, falls, poisoning, drowning, self-harm, and interpersonal violence. There are proven ways to prevent many child injuries, yet there are still gaps in our knowledge. By understanding the impact of determinants of health, i.e. the social and economic environment, the physical environment, and a person's individual characteristics and behaviors, effective prevention interventions can be designed and implemented with a high return on investment. This Special Issue covers an eclectic range of studies, the common goal of which is to reduce the global burden of child injury-related mortality and morbidity. 7th International Conference on Tourism Research Prof Rishi Balkaran, Dr Chris Hattingh, 2024-03-18 These proceedings represent the work of contributors to the 7th International Conference on Tourism Research ICTR 2024, hosted by the Centre for Tourism Research in Africa at the Cape Town Hotel School, Cape Peninsula University of Technology, South Africa, on 18-19 March 2024. Malindi, Johnnie Hay, Thabo Makhalemele, 2024-02-23 The COVID-19 pandemic and the restrictions that came with it led to unprecedented disruptions in learner development and put them at risk of poor developmental outcomes. It is thus important that the extent of the disruption on their development and the support needs of learners be investigated. Researching the impact of the disruption should focus on holistic development. In this book, the authors use multiple research approaches and methods of gathering data in their respective fields to examine the impact of the disruption and determine the support needs of learners. Data gathered through the different methods are processed, and findings are presented. The findings have implications for both practice and future research in the fields of inclusive education, learner support, educational psychology, movement education, Life Orientation, and curriculum development.
