Multi-omic Data Integration Paolo Tieri, Christine Nardini, Jennifer Elizabeth Dent, 2015-09-17 Stable predictive biomarkers and interpretable disease signatures are seen as a significant step towards personalized medicine In this perspective integration of multi omic data coming from genomics transcriptomics glycomics proteomics metabolomics is a powerful strategy to reconstruct and analyse complex multi dimensional interactions enabling deeper mechanistic and medical insight At the same time there is a rising concern that much of such different omic data although often publicly and freely available lie in databases and repositories underutilised or not used at all Issues coming from lack of standardisation and shared biological identities are also well known From these considerations a novel pressing request arises from the life sciences to design methodologies and approaches that allow for these data to be interpreted as a whole i e as intertwined molecular signatures containing genes proteins mRNAs and miRNAs able to capture inter layers connections and complexity Papers discuss data integration approaches and methods of several types and extents their application in understanding the pathogenesis of specific diseases or in identifying candidate biomarkers to exploit the full benefit of multi omic datasets and their intrinsic information content Topics of interest include but are not limited to Methods for the integration of layered data including but not limited to genomics transcriptomics glycomics proteomics metabolomics Application of multi omic data integration approaches for diagnostic biomarker discovery in any field of the life sciences Innovative approaches for the analysis and the visualization of multi omic datasets Methods and applications for systematic measurements from single undivided samples comprising genomic transcriptomic proteomic metabolomic measurements among others Multi scale approaches for integrated dynamic modelling and simulation Implementation of applications computational resources and repositories devoted to data integration including but

Clickers in the Classroom David S. Goldstein,Peter D. Wallis,2023-07-03 With classroom response systems or CRSs also known as Student Response Systems Individual Response Systems or informally clickers in use in higher education for some 20 years there is now both ample research and a wealth of examples and ideas to draw on for faculty who are contemplating their use or exploring new ways to integrate them in their teaching The research demonstrates that integrated purposefully in courses the use of clickers aligns with what neuroscience tells us about the formation of memory and the development of learning In addition they elicit contributions from otherwise reticent students and enhance collaboration even in large lecture courses foster more honest responses to discussion prompts increase students engagement and satisfaction with the classroom environment and provide an instantaneous method of formative assessment This book presents a brief history of the development of CRSs and a survey of empirical research to provide a context for current best practices and then presents seven chapters providing authentic effective examples of the use of clickers across a wide range of academic disciplines demonstrating how they can be effective in helping students to recognize their misconceptions and grasp fundamental concepts Like all pedagogical interventions classroom response systems are no panacea and the experienced contributors candidly describe avoidable pitfalls while demonstrating how clickers can deepen student learning and how by providing instantaneous feedback they enable teachers to make adjustments on the fly to better address student understandings or misunderstandings The final chapter explores pros and cons of response systems that use mobile devices and smart phones Innovation,

Black Ops Advertising Mara Einstein, 2016-09-01 From Facebook to Talking Points Memo to the New York Times often what looks like fact based journalism is not It s advertising Not only are ads indistinguishable from reporting the Internet we rely on for news opinions and even impartial sales content is now the ultimate corporate tool Reader beware content without a corporate sponsor lurking behind it is rare indeed Black Ops Advertising dissects this rapid rise of sponsored content a strategy whereby advertisers have become publishers and publishers create advertising all under the guise of unbiased information Covert selling mostly in the form of native advertising and content marketing has so blurred the lines between editorial content and marketing message that it is next to impossible to tell real news from paid endorsements In the 21st century instead of telling us to buy buy BUY marketers engage with us so that we share share SHARE the ultimate subtle sell Why should this concern us Because personal data personal relationships and our very identities are being repackaged in pursuit of corporate profits Because tracking and manipulation of data make likes and tweets and followers the currency of importance rather than scientific achievement or artistic talent or information the electorate needs to fully function in a democracy And because we are being manipulated to spend time with technology to interact with friends to always be on even when it is to our physical and mental detriment

Plant Glycobiology - a sweet world of lectins, glycoproteins, glycolipids and glycans Els J. M. Van Damme, Nausicaä Lannoo, Céline Albenne, Elisabeth Jamet, 2015-02-12 Plants synthesize a wide variety of unique glycan structures which play essential roles during the life cycle of the plant Being omnipresent throughout the plant kingdom ranging from simple green algae to modern flowering plants glycans contribute to many diverse processes Glycans can function as structural components in the plant cell wall assist in the folding of nascent proteins act as signaling molecules in plant defense responses or ER stress pathways or serve within the energy metabolism of a plant. In most cases, glycans are attached to other macromolecules to form so-called glycoconjugates, e.g., glycoproteins, proteoglycans, and glycolipids, but they can also be present as free entities residing in the plant cell. Next to the broad complex set of glycans, plants also evolved an elaborate collection of lectins or proteins with a lectin-like domain which can recognize and bind to endogenous plant's own or exogenous foreign glycans. Though still poorly understood in plants, the dynamic interactions between lectins and carbohydrate structures are suggested to be involved in gene transcription, protein folding, protein transport, cell adhesion, signaling, as well as defense responses. As such a complex and largely undetermined glycan interactome is established inside plant cells between cells and their surrounding matrix inside the extracellular matrix and even between organisms, studying the biological roles of plant glycans will enable to better understand plant development and physiology in order to fully exploit plants for food feed and production of pharmaceutical proteins. In this Research Topic, we want to provide a platform for articles describing the latest research perspectives and methodologies related to the fascinating world of plant glycobiology with a focus on following subjects:

- 1 Identification and characterization of plant glycans, their biosynthetic and degradation enzymes
- 2 Characterization of plant lectins and glycoproteins
- 3 Plant glycans in the plant's energy metabolism
- 4 Role of plant glycans in plant defense signaling
- 5 Use of plant lectins in pest control
- 6 Plant lectins as new tools in human medicine
- 7 Glyco-engineering in plants
