Cover art: The Indians Giving a Talk to Colonel Boscawen in a Conference at a Council Fire near his Camp on the Banks of Muskingum in America in October 1764. Between 1765 and 1764, by Benjamin West, Yale Center for British Art, Paul Mellon Collection.

This engraving depicts a meeting between British representatives led by Colonel Boscawen and a delegation of Shawnee, Delaware, and other Indians. The two parties are negotiating the return of American soldiers in the Western and Pennsylvania frontier. At the end of the council, the Indians handed over 200 captives, some of whom had been raised by Indian families and later fled back to them. West's engraving highlights the power of the Indian orator who dominates the scene. The British officers look on—some hold their hands over their ears, and another leans forward attentively as he records the proceedings. Indian oratory was of great interest to writers, including Thomas Jefferson, who said of "Logan's Speech" (in this volume) as a major example of the genre.
