Cinema, 1900-1992 Wheeler W. Dixon,1994-07-01 Re Viewing British Cinema 1900 1992 is a collection of essays on British cinema history and practice It offers both the casual reader and the film scholar a different view of British filmmaking during the past century Arranged in chronological order the book explores those areas of British cinema that have not been fully examined in other works and also offers fresh interpretations of a number of classic films From the work of Frederic Villiers the pioneering British newsreel cameraman who at the turn of the century brought home images of battlefield carnage to essays on the British B film and the long forgotten Independent Frame method of film production to new readings of classics such as The Red Shoes Passport to Pimlico and Peeping Tom the authors offer a look behind the scenes of the British film industry and engage the reader in some of the most compelling interpretational and historical issues of recent film history and critical theory In addition the volume contains a number of interviews with such key directors as Stephen Frears Terence Davies Wendy Toye and Lindsay Anderson and also pays particular attention to the work of early twentieth century British feminist filmmakers whose films have often been ignored by conventional film theory and history It also offers new material on the British film noir the English horror film and the pioneering gay director Brian Desmond Hurst Taken as a whole this book presents an entirely new series of viewpoints on British film practice theory and reception and affords a fresh and vibrant view of the British film medium The Wind Is Never Gone M. Carmen Gómez-Galisteo, 2011-07-29 More than seventy years after its publication in 1936 Margaret Mitchell's Gone with the Wind has never been out of print An icon of American culture it has had similar success abroad popular in Japan Russia and post World War II Europe among other places and times This work analyzes the continuations of Mitchell's novel the authorized sequels Scarlett by Alexandra Ripley and Rhett Butler's People by Donald McCaig the unauthorized parody The Wind Done Gone by Alice Randall and a politically correct parody and the many fan fiction stories posted online The book also explores Gone with the Wind's ambiguous ending the perceived need to publish an authorized sequel and the legal battle to determine who may re write Gone with the Wind
