House of Commons: International Development Committee,2014-04-30 This report is the International Development Committee s annual review of UK aid programmes and the administration of the Department for International Development DFID The Committee finds that field work overseas should be given greater priority and Ministers must explain UK spending on humanitarian projects more clearly DFID should not provide funds to support disasters in middle income countries by raiding bilateral development programmes in low income countries Other wealthy OECD countries must play their part in providing humanitarian assistance DFID should set out annually its provisional budget for humanitarian relief what is held as contingencies for unpredictable events and how it will be deployed if not called upon There has also been a decline in DFID s spending on budget support the consequences of which should be assessed 1 075 million of DFID s bilateral expenditure is spent through multilaterals and private contractors DFID has put in place a number of changes to improve the value for money provided by spending through and should report on their effectiveness The Committee is also worried that the Department actually spends 40% of its budget in the last two months of the year which raises questions about the smooth running of management and planning processes DFID staff should have longer postings overseas normally a minimum of four years so that they can develop a deeper understanding of the culture and politics of the country they are working in and engage more effectively with the country s politicians
