The Seduction of the Mediterranean Robert Aldrich, 2002-09-11 Through an explanation of forty figures in European culture The Seduction of the Mediterranean argues that the Mediterranean classical and contemporary was the central theme in homoerotic writing and art from the 1750s to the 1950s Episodes of exile murder drug taking wild homosexual orgies and court cases are woven into an original study of a significant theme in European culture The myth of a homoerotic Mediterranean made a major contribution to general attitudes towards Antiquity the Renaissance and modern Italy and Greece A Sicilian seduction (Greek) Michelle Reid,2014 , Sex and Death in Eighteenth-Century Literature Jolene Zigarovich,2013-05-02 This book discusses sex and death in the eighteenth century an era that among other forms produced the Gothic novel commencing the prolific examination of the century s shifting attitudes toward death and uncovering literary moments in which sexuality and death often conjoined By bringing together various viewpoints and historical relations the volume contributes to an emerging field of study and provides new perspectives on the ways in which the century approached an increasingly modern sense of sexuality and mortality It not only provides part of the needed discussion of the relationship between sex death history and eighteenth century culture but is a forum in which the ideas of several well respected critics converge producing a breadth of knowledge and a diversity of perspectives and methodologies previously unseen As the contributors demonstrate eighteenth century anxieties over mortality the body the soul and the corpse inspired many writers of the time to both implicitly and explicitly embed mortality and sexuality within their works By depicting the necrophilic tendencies of libertines and rapacious villains the fetishizing of death and mourning by virtuous heroines or the fantasy of preserving the body these authors demonstrate not only the tragic results of sexual play but the persistent fantasy of necro erotica This book shows that within the eighteenth century culture of profound modern change underworkings of death and mourning are often eroticized that sex is often equated with death as punishment or loss of the self and that the sex death dialectic lies at the discursive center of normative conceptions of gender desire and social power Philosophy and Communication Bert Olivier,2009 The essays assembled in this volume focus on philosophical questions regarding various aspects of communication They are predicated on the author s conviction that communication between human beings regardless of the many difficulties involved is something of sufficient importance to justify a patient philosophical exploration such as that embarked upon here Interwoven with philosophical considerations readers will find insights gained from psychoanalytical thinkers such as Jacques Lacan and Julia Kristeva The essays address a wide range of themes Sometimes they concern fundamental things such as the question of the very possibility of communication or the indispensable function of communication in sexual relations The communicational significance of a certain kind of architecture is scrutinized as well as that of images in our media saturated postmodern world together with the connection between the latter and the experience of identity today Other essays concentrate on communicational phenomena such as seduction and Kristeva s notion of revolt the difficulties surrounding communication in the age of Empire and the reappearance of communicational sophistry as a theme in contemporary cinema
