A Singular Moment Of Consciousness Conflict In China:

A Singular Moment of Consciousness Anthony McGrath, 2018-10-26 This is the significantly revised version of the first edition containing new chapters and extended story information A Singular Moment of Consciousness is a work of historical fiction based on the recovered memories of Anthony McGrath It weaves a story of star crossed lovers drawn together to a recurring union and fated destiny in China interwoven with historical figures of the times Set in the Boxer rebellion of the 1900 s it examines the intricate manipulation of power money sex intrigue and politics of warring empires as they struggle for domination at all costs It depicts how the ordinary and extraordinary characters lived at the time with powerful illustrations of Qi Gong Chinese Healing Arts and Sciences together with the day to day issues of simply surviving in a war torn decaying Empire

China, the USA and Capitalism's Last Crusade William Briggs, 2021-10-29 As the sun rises on China and sets on America the world holds its breath China the USA and Capitalism s Last Crusade looks at the rise of China and the decline of the USA but from a different angle William Briggs argues that this struggle for economic supremacy is being played out against a much bigger backdrop the decline of the economic structure of capitalism In this sense the decline of the USA is portrayed as that larger economic decline in microcosm Briggs examines the relationship between state and capital of how capitalism came to dominate the world and of the historical political and economic rise of both the USA and China He shows that the struggle between the two nations has little to do with cultural historical demographic political or ideological differences but with what they have in common Despite the portrayal of China as being socialist it functions as a capitalist economy in the globalised capitalist world While its journey to capitalism may have differed the end point is the same and this is why there is such animosity such conflict such acrimony between the two states

Narrating Nonhuman Spaces Marco Caracciolo, Marlene Karlsson Marcussen, David Rodriguez, 2021-08-18 Recent debates about the Anthropocene have prompted a re negotiation of the relationship between human subjectivity and nonhuman matter within a wide range of disciplines This collection builds on the assumption that our understanding of the nonhuman world is bound up with the experience of space thinking about and with nonhuman spaces destabilizes human scale assumptions Literary form affords this kind of nonanthropocentric experience one role of the critic in the Anthropocene is to foreground the function of space and description in challenging the conventional link between narrative and human inter subjectivity Bringing together New Formalism ecocriticism and narrative theory the included essays demonstrate that literature can transgress the strong and long established boundary of the human frame that literary and narrative scholarship clings to The focus is firmly on the contemporary but with strategic samplings in earlier cultural texts the American transcendentalists modernist fiction that anticipate present day anxieties about the nonhuman while at the same time offering important conceptual tools for working through them

Other Modernities Lisa Rofel, 1999-03-01 In this analysis of three generations of women in a Chinese silk factory Lisa Rofel brilliantly interweaves the intimate details of her observations with a broad ranging critique of the meaning of modernity in a postmodern age The author based her study at a silk factory in the city of Hangzhou in eastern China She compares the lives of three generations of women workers those who entered the factory right around the Communist revolution in 1949 those who were youths during the Cultural Revolution of the 1970s and those who have come of age in the Deng era Exploring attitudes toward work marriage society and culture she convincingly connects the changing meanings of the modern in official discourse to the stories women tell about themselves and what they make of their lives One of the first studies to take up theoretically sophisticated issues about gender modernity and power based on a solid ethnographic ground this much needed cross generational study will be a model for future anthropological work around the world

Asianism and the Politics of Regional Consciousness in Singapore Leong Yew, 2013-11-20 Over the last two decades Singapore has undergone a substantial degree of Asianization Apart from participating in the Asian values debate of the 1990s re-visioning itself as New Asia and a global Asian hub and establishing Asian identities for the commodities it consumes and produces Singapore has also repurposed its modernity cultures and ethos along similar regionalist precepts However even in recent times Singapore continues to vacillate ambivalently between identifying with and differentiating itself from Asia Responding to the challenges Singapore faces in coming to terms with its Asian identity this book examines the complex cultural social and political underpinnings that have shaped Singapore's mainstream discourse on Asia Indeed it argues that its legacy as a colonial port city the exigencies of managing the post-independence nation state and the larger forces of imperialism and capitalism all contribute to its politics of Asianism Taking a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach that spans history cultural studies postcolonialism and cultural geography Leong Yew reveals how Asia has been used to narrate Singapore's beginnings revalidate Singaporean ethnic culture and to consolidate its practices of consumption and commodification This book will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a range of fields including Asian culture and society Asian politics cultural theory and postcolonial studies

Chinese Science Fiction Mingwei Song, Nathaniel Isaacson, Hua Li, 2024-04-27 This volume brings together emerging approaches and addresses shifting paradigms in Chinese science fiction studies offering a window on fan cultures internet fiction gender eco-criticism post-humanism and biomedical discourse These studies present a second wave of Chinese sf studies re-evaluating the canon of Chinese sf print and cinematic production and expand the range of critical approaches to the subject The structure of the volume is both chronological and theme-focused These studies also demonstrate that Chinese science fiction represents a significant contribution to modern Chinese cultural production both in terms of its value speaking powerfully to our modern condition and its sheer volume in terms of production and consumption Chinese science fiction speaks to both China's rapidly shifting reality its political multiplicity and its formless future voicing the anticipations and anxieties of a new epoch filled with accelerating alterations and increasing uncertainty

since the mid 1990s New Left intellectuals debate the issues of social justice distributive equality markets state intervention the socialist legacy and sustainable development Against the neoliberal trends of free markets liberal democracy and consumerism New Left critics launched a critique in hopes of seeking an alternative to global capitalism This volume takes a comprehensive look at China's New Left in intellectual cultural and literary manifestations The writers place the New Left within a global anti hegemonic movement and the legacy of the Cold War They discover grassroots literature that portrays the plight and resilience of the downtrodden and disadvantaged With historical visions the writers also shed light on the present by drawing on the socialist past

Writing to the Rhythm of Labor Benjamin Kindler, 2025-05-20 What does it mean to write in a socialist revolution What defines labor in a communist society In revolutionary China writers were regularly dispatched to the countryside or factories with the expectation that through immersion in the life of workers and peasants they would be remade as culture workers whose writing could serve the communist project Their cultural labor would not merely reflect or represent the process of building socialism it would actively participate in it by excavating the contradictions and challenges of the ongoing reorganization of social relations Benjamin Kindler examines how writing transformed the Chinese Revolution even as the revolution remade what it meant to write He argues that the revolution sought in unparalleled ways to overcome the basic division between those who write and those who work This book combines close readings of a wide range of texts from the works of established figures to the writings of amateur workers drawn from the factory floor with analysis of Chinese socialist political economy Far from being drab instances of state propaganda these texts and cultural experiments were lively and inventive attempts to determine what a different more equal society might look like Offering new ways to understand cultural production as a material embodied process this book reconsiders the role of art and literature in radical politics

Reflections of a Metaphysical Flaneur Raymond Tallis, 2014-09-11 These essays from one of our most stimulating thinkers showcase Tallis's infectious fascination indeed intoxication with the infinite complexity of human lives and the human condition In the title essay we join Tallis on a stroll around his local park and the intricate passages of his own consciousness as he uses the motif of the walk the amble to occasion a series of meditations on the freedoms that only human beings possess In subsequent essays the flaneur thinks about his brain his relationship to the rest of the animal kingdom his profession of medicine and about the physical world and the claims of physical science to have rendered philosophical reflection obsolete Taken together the essays continue Tallis's mission to elaborate a vision of humanity that rejects religious myths while not succumbing to scientism or any other form of naturalism Written with the author's customary intellectual energy and vigour these essays provoke move and challenge us to think differently about who we are and our place in the material world

Modernism in the Second World War Keith Alldritt, 1989 After a consideration of the best lyric poetry of the Second World War the writer examines those poems which responded more fully to the challenge of the war These are the long poems of Eliot Pound Bunting and MacDiarmid Through a close reading of the poems the writer demonstrates that what these radically different poets have in common in their war poems is their use of modernist techniques to transcend the particulars of the war and to assert the resilience of the human spirit and civilisation when confronted with such an unprecedented threat
