A Town Where You Live T:

Post-War Identification Torsten Kolind, 2008-11-12 Stolac the town of departure for this book and the site where the author conducted fieldwork is located in the south western corner of Bosnia Herzegovina The war in Bosnia Herzegovina 1992-95 was initially an act of aggression and territorial conquest instigated by Serbian political leaders However as the war progressed it increasingly came to consist of several minor wars one of them fought in Western Bosnia Herzegovina between Croatian and Muslim forces This was the one that affected the inhabitants of Stolac the most Before the war ethnic identity in Bosnia Herzegovina was only one identity among others and ethnic differences were embedded in everyday practices Today ethnic difference is all there is The Muslims of Stolac are fully aware that as Muslims they constitute a totally separate group and that ethnic identity is by far the most important form of identity in present day Bosnia Herzegovina In that regard the nationalist project has succeeded Such a crystallisation and explication of identity fits in well with the structurally inspired anthropology of war and violence which theorises that the function of violence is to create unambiguous identities However Post War Identities shows that for the Muslims of Stolac the creation of unambiguous ethnic identities is only half the story
