garden upon the young lady's relatives he was fond of repeating one and the same anecdote which in spite of Mr Polutikin's appreciation of its merits had certainly never amused anyone he admired the works of Akim Nahimov and the novel Pinna he stammered he called his dog Astronomer instead of however said howsomever and had established in his household a French system of cookery the secret of which consisted according to his cook's interpretation in a complete transformation of the natural taste of each dish in this artist's hands meat assumed the flavour of fish fish of mushrooms macaroni of gunpowder to make up for this not a single carrot went into the soup without taking the shape of a rhombus or a trapeze But with the exception of these few and insignificant failings Mr Polutikin was as has been said already an excellent fellow On the first day of my acquaintance with Mr Polutikin he invited me to stay the night at his house Taken from Sketches from a Hunter's Album written by Ivan Turgenev

Sketches from a Hunter's Album (a Sportsman's Sketches) Ivan Sergeevich Turgenev, 2010-01-01 Generally thought to be the work that led to the abolishment of serfdom in Russia Sketches from a Hunter's Album A Sportsman's Sketches is a series of short stories written in 1852 that gained Turgenev widespread recognition for his unique writing style These stories were the result of Turgenev's observations while hunting all over Russia particularly on his abusive mother's estate at Spasskoye A definitive work of the Russian Realist tradition this collection of sketches unveils the author's insights on the lives of everyday Russians from landowners and their peasants to bailiffs and mournful doctors to unhappy wives and mothers Turgenev captures their tragedies and triumphs losses and love in a set of stories that condemned the behavior of the ruling class Considered subversive writing Turgenev was confined to his mother's estate yet his Sketches opened the eyes of many people of his time proving him not only an artist but also a social reformer whose abilities ultimately affected the lives of countless Russians

A Sportsman's Sketches, Volume 2 Ivan Sergeevich Turgenev, 2022-05-16 A Sportsman's Sketches also known as A Sportsman's Notebook The Hunting Sketches and Sketches from a Hunter's Album is an 1852 cycle of short stories by Ivan Turgenev It was the first major writing that gained him recognition This work is part of the Russian realist tradition in that the narrator is usually an uncommitted observer of the people he meets This series of short stories revealed Turgenev's unique talent as a short story writer Evidently it greatly influenced all Russian short story writers of the late 19th and early 20th centuries such as Anton Chekhov Ivan Bunin Alexander Kuprin and many others Other world writers also admired Turgenev's style Sherwood Anderson was particularly influenced by Turgenev's literature. He considered A Sportsman's Sketches to be a paradigm for his own short stories. More recently, Turgenev has been criticized for his somewhat idealized characterization of muzhiks. Turgenev's muzhiks have been compared to other noble savages in 19th-century fiction such as American Indians in works by J. F. Cooper. Anyone who has chanced to pass from the Bolhovskiy district into the Zhizdrinsky district must have been impressed by the striking difference between the race of people in the province of Orel and the population of the province of Kaluga. The peasant of Orel is not tall, is bent in figure, sullen and suspicious in his looks; he lives in wretched little hovels of aspen wood, labours as a serf in the fields and engages in no kind of trading; he is miserably fed and wears slippers of bast; the rent-paying peasant of Kaluga lives in roomy cottages of pine wood; he is tall, bold and cheerful in his looks, neat and clean of countenance; he carries on a trade in butter and tar and on holidays he wears boots. The village of the Orel province we are speaking now of, the eastern part of the province, is usually situated in the midst of ploughed fields near a water course which has been converted into a filthy pool. Except for a few of the ever accommodating willows and two or three gaunt birch trees you do not see a tree for a mile round; hut is huddled up against hut, their roofs covered with rotting thatch. The villages of Kaluga on the contrary are generally surrounded by forest; the huts stand more freely, are more upright and have boarded roofs; the gates fasten closely; the hedge is not broken down nor trailing about; there are no gaps to invite the visits of the passing pig. And things are much better in the Kaluga province for the sportsman. In the Orel province the last of the woods and copses will have disappeared five years hence and there is no trace of moorland left; in Kaluga on the contrary the moors extend over tens of miles and a splendid bird, the grouse, is still extant there; there are abundance of the friendly larger snipe and the loud clapping partridge; cheers and startles the sportsman and his dog by its abrupt upward flight.
