for Archaeology

Studying History at William Howard has helped fuel my love of Archaeology. The school community has encouraged me every step of the way and helped me to gain experience at local excavations. Much to the horror of PE students, we were even allowed to dig up the school field, where we found a post-medieval brick kiln.

I would recommend History to all those interested in gaining from the collective past experiences of humanity. The incredibly broad course at WHS ranges from the last English monarch to gain the throne by conquest, right through to the infamous Watergate scandal.
