Schott, 2018-06-26 Drakul Nosferatu Upyr Vampyre There have been many names for what we know today as the vampire For over a century literature television cinema and many other areas in our daily lives cannot be imagined without the appearance of this fictional character Almost everyone is familiar with the image of the walking undead that creeps out of its coffin at night and sucks the blood out of humans The undead has always been appealing to its audience It is the otherness of such monsters their frightful darkness and exoticism that makes them so interesting This book deals with the figure of the vampire regarded as the unknown other and how it is fictionally represented in the American TV series True Blood 2008 Considering both psychoanalytical concepts as well identity theory the author depicts the literary and cinematographic development of the fictional figure of the vampire since the late nineteenth century and analyzes different representations of the vampire and its otherness as well as their appeal to the audience in the True Blood True Blood and Philosophy

Fables of the Law Daniela Carpi,Marett Leiboff,2016-10-24 The latest development concerning the metaphorical use of the fairy tale is the legal perspective The law had and has recourse to fairy tales in order to speak of the nomos and its subversion of the politically correct and of the various means that have been used to enforce the law Fairy tales are a fundamental tool to examine legal procedures and structures in their many failings and errors Therefore we have privileged the term fables of the law just to stress the ethical perspective they are moral parables that often speak of justice miscarried and justice sought Law and jurists are creators of fables on the view that law is born out of the facts ex facto ius oritur so that there is a need for narrative coherence both on the level of the case and the level of legislation or turned the other way around what does it mean if no such coherence is found This is especially of interest given the influx of all kinds of new technologies that are fabulous in themselves and hard to incorporate in traditional doctrinal schemes and thus in the construction of a new reality
