American Catch The Fight For Our Local Seafood:

American Catch Paul Greenberg,2014 Author Paul Greenberg uncovers the tragic unraveling of the nation s seafood supply telling the surprising story of why Americans stopped eating from their own waters In 2005 the United States imported nearly twice as much seafood as twenty years earlier Bizarrely during that same period our seafood exports quadrupled Greenberg examines New York oysters Gulf shrimp and Alaskan salmon to reveal how this came to be Following the trail of environmental desecration Greenberg comes to view the New York City oyster as a reminder of what is lost when local waters are not valued as a food source A different kind of catastrophe threatens the Gulf of Mexico Asian farmed shrimp have flooded the American market Finally a proposed mining project could undermine the spawning grounds of the biggest wild sockeye salmon run left in the world In his search to discover why this precious resource isn t better protected Greenberg finds the great majority of Alaskan salmon is exported Sockeye salmon is one of the most nutritionally dense animal proteins on the planet yet Americans are shipping it abroad But despite the challenges hope abounds many are working to break the current destructive patterns of consumption and return American catch to American tables From publisher description

Overrun Andrew Reeves,2019-03-12 Intelligent investigative writing meets experiential journalism in this important look at one of North America s most voraciously invasive species Politicians ecologists and government wildlife officials are fighting a desperate rearguard action to halt the onward reach of Asian Carp four troublesome fish now within a handful of miles from entering Lake Michigan From aquaculture farms in Arkansas to the bayous of Louisiana from marshlands in Indiana to labs in Minnesota and from the Illinois River to the streets of Chicago where the last line of defense has been laid to keep Asian carp from reaching the Great Lakes Overrun takes us on a firsthand journey into the heart of a crisis Along the way environmental journalist Andrew Reeves discovers that saving the Great Lakes is only half the challenge The other is a radical scientific and political shift to rethink how we can bring back our degraded and ignored rivers and waterways and reconsider how we create equilibrium in a shrinking world With writing that is both urgent and wildly entertaining Andrew Reeves traces the carp s explosive spread throughout North America from an unknown import meant to tackle invasive water weeds to a continental scourge that bulldozes through everything in its path officials will find examples of how to build alliances to support and embolden this vision together The Routledge History of American Foodways Michael D. Wise, Jennifer Jensen Wallach, 2016-02-12 The Routledge History of American Foodways provides an important overview of the main themes surrounding the history of food in the Americas from the pre colonial era to the present day By broadly incorporating the latest food studies research the book explores the major advances that have taken place in the past few decades in this crucial field The volume is composed of four parts The first part explores the significant developments in US food history in one of five time periods to situate the topical and thematic chapters to follow The second part examines the key ingredients in the American diet throughout time allowing authors to analyze many of these foods as items that originated in or dramatically impacted the Americas as a whole and not just the United States The third part focuses on how these ingredients have been transformed into foods identified with the American diet and on how Americans have produced and presented these foods over the last four centuries The final section explores how food practices are a means of embodying ideas about identity showing how food choices preferences and stereotypes have been used to create and maintain ideas of difference Including essays on all the key topics and issues The Routledge History of American Foodways comprises work from a leading group of scholars and presents a comprehensive survey of the current state of the field It will be essential reading for all those interested in the history of food in American culture Oceans and Society Ana Spalding, Daniel Suman, 2023-02-28 This unique textbook presents an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of marine studies exploring the dynamic relationship between people and the marine environment Emphasizing the human dimension of coastal and ocean issues the book provides an innovative examination of the complex marine human environment dynamics by drawing on social science and humanities approaches Applying these interdisciplinary approaches the textbook addresses key challenges facing the marine environment including changing climate fisheries aquaculture marine pollution energy production and management of areas beyond national jurisdiction While leading with a human dimension approach to these challenges the chapters are all firmly grounded in foundational knowledge about coastal and ocean environments and processes The textbook also includes examples of professional or academic areas of specialization within marine studies such as social and environmental justice governance global perspectives traditional ecological knowledge and management entrepreneurship community development conservation and the blue economy Ultimately the book provides the first cohesive resource on marine studies to educate students train interdisciplinary marine leaders inspire new knowledge about people and the sea generate innovative solutions for sustainable oceans and build capacity for a new generation of marine focused professionals Oceans and Society is essential reading for students on marine studies courses as well as those studying marine governance policy conservation and law more broadly It will also be of great interest to students researchers and professionals interested in applying interdisciplinary approaches to environmental challenges

The Marlin's Fiery Eye and Other Tales from the Extraordinary World of Marine Fishes Joe E. Meisel, 2025-03-15 The Marlin's Fiery Eye and Other Tales from the Extraordinary World of Marine Fishes dives into the mystery and wonder of the daily lives of saltwater fishes. Joe E. Meisel introduces readers to the fascinating behaviors, remarkable adaptations, and complex life histories of the many species that call the oceans home. From the shallows where penetrating sunlight encourages bright colors and extravagant patterns in fish to the abyssal depths where extreme conditions are countered in bizarre ways, this book illuminates the staggering diversity of ocean life. Discussions of unique characteristics and lifestyles are accompanied by narratives from scientists and fish lovers, with detailed illustrations throughout. Meisel also explores the challenges facing global fisheries today, connecting the book's featured species with questions and opportunities surrounding food demand, aquaculture, and sustainability. Each fish has a story to tell. In The Marlin's Fiery Eye and Other Tales from the Extraordinary World of Marine Fishes, and through each story, readers will discover an awe and a fascination for the oceanic inhabitants that we so rarely get to witness.

A Pioneer Son at Sea Gilbert L. Voss, 2016-03-06 Florida Historical Society Charlton Tebeau Award. An outstanding piece of Florida fishing history by one of the most famous marine biologists in Florida. Gene Shinn, author of Bootstrap Geologist: My Life in Science. A perfect blend of history, science, and adventure. Allowing his natural storytelling talent to shine through, Voss tells of the waters, inlets, coves, and colorful characters that comprised South Florida in the early twentieth century. Janet DeVries, author of Pioneering Palm Beach: The Deweys and the South Florida Frontier. A vivid picture of Voss's early years as a fisherman and outdoorsman prior to his illustrious career as a marine scientist and educator who passed along volumes of knowledge about the marine environment and its inhabitants to the scientific community. Tommy Thompson, author of The Saltwater Angler's Guide to Tampa Bay and Southwest Florida. A priceless memoir and a spectacular adventure. Terry Howard, author of High Seas Wranglers: The Lives of Atlantic Fishing Captains. Long before tourism dominated Florida's coastline, the state was home to dozens of commercial fisheries and ethnically diverse communities of rugged individuals who made their living from the sea. In A Pioneer Son at Sea, Gilbert Voss, a celebrated marine biologist, recounts his early days of fishing on both coasts of the peninsula during the Great Depression and World War II. Here are vanished scenes from old Florida, almost unimaginable to modern residents of the state: gill netting for mackerel off Jupiter; the early days of charterboat fishing for sailfish out of Stuart and Boynton; the snapper fleet at Carrabelle; sponge diving at Tarpon Springs; the oyster fishery at Crystal River; and mullet fishing from airboats at Flamingo. Oversized personalities inhabit these pages, including Voss's brothers, who were themselves seminal figures in the early days of Florida big game fishing. Voss's anecdotes feature Crackers, rum runners, murderers, Conchs, wealthy industrialists, now legendary charterboatmen, Greek spongers, and Cuban vivero captains. These stories are not just spirited portraits of fishermen from a bygone era; they are also remarkable tales of the formative years in the life of a scientist and conservationist who later worked tirelessly to preserve our dwindling marine resources.

Science and Sensibility Michael Vincent McGinnis, 2016-03-22. If humans are to understand and discover ways of addressing complex social and ecological problems we first need to find intimacy with our particular places and communities Cultivating a relationship to place often includes a negotiating process that involves both science and sensibility While science is one key part of an adaptive and resilient society the cultivation of a renewed sense of place and community is essential as well Science and Sensibility argues for the need for ecology to engage with philosophical values and economic motivations in a political process of negotiation with the goal of shaping humans treatment of the natural world Michael Vincent McGinnis aims to reframe ecology so it might have greater trans scientific awareness of the roles and interactions among multiple stakeholders in socioecological systems and he also maintains that deep ecological knowledge of specific places will be crucial to supporting a sustainable society He uses numerous specific case studies from watershed coastal and marine habitats to illustrate how place based ecological negotiation can occur and how reframing our negotiation process can influence conservation restoration and environmental policy in effective ways

Blue Ecocriticism and the Oceanic Imperative

Sidney I. Dobrin, 2021-03-28 This book initiates a conversation about blue ecocriticism critical ethical cultural and political positions that emerge from oceanic or aquatic frames of mind rather than traditional land based approaches Ecocriticism has rapidly become not only a disciplinary legitimate critical form but also one of the most dynamic active criticisms to emerge in recent times However even in its institutional success ecocriticism has exemplified an ocean deficit That is ecocriticism has thus far primarily been a land based criticism stranded on a liquid planet Blue Ecocriticism and the Oceanic Imperative contributes to efforts to overcome ecocriticism s ocean deficit The chapters explore a vast archive of oceanic literature visual art television and film games theory and criticism By examining the relationships between these representations of ocean and cultural imaginaries Blue Ecocriticism works to unmoor ecocriticism from its land based anchors This book aims to simultaneously advance blue ecocriticism as an intellectual pursuit within the environmental humanities and to advocate for ocean conservation as derivative of that pursuit
