

AMERICAN LITERATURE

1. The Colonial Period (1492–1700)

Native Americans, the first inhabitants of the continent, did not develop anything we can call “literature” – their stories and poems were spread orally, which means the American literary history begins with the age of colonialism.

The character of early American literature is strongly influenced by several factors:

- It was the era of colonising the continent. Since not only the English explored and claimed the territories, the beginnings of American literature are more or less connected also with French, Spanish or Dutch literatures as well.
- The first writers brought mainly English ideas and ways of writing, which means early American literature is based on the literature of England. As years passed and literary theory developed, the writers who adopted the English style are now sometimes called pale faces (Franklin, Longfellow, James, Pound). Their poetry is sometimes referred to as “cooked poetry”. On the other hand, there were authors who explored new topics and helped shape America’s own literary tradition. Those are called redskins (Whitman, Emerson, the Beat Generation). Their poetry is referred to as “raw poetry”.
- Religion played an important part in the writers’ lives. Many writings of the period were sermons² and theological books. The fact that the Pilgrims landed in the Massachusetts Bay in 1620 had an immense³ influence on the culture of the newly developing colonial system.
- The topics common in the early periods were connected with the issues of living in a new land (agriculture, explorations, and relations with the native people) and travelling (travel logs⁴, journals).

JOHN SMITH (1580–1631) is considered to be the first American writer. He was an explorer and colonist; he helped found Jamestown in 1607.⁵ His A True Relation of Virginia is said to be the first American book written in English. It describes the problems of colonising the area.

WILLIAM BRADFORD (1590–1657) was a Puritan writer who described life in the early English settlements. His book Of Plymouth Plantation is full of religious topics and depictions⁶ of a difficult life in the colony.

² sermon – kázání

³ immense – nesmírný

⁴ travel log – cestovní deník

⁵ John Smith is connected with the character of Pocahontas, an Indian woman who saved his life after he had been captured.

⁶ depiction – popis

ANNE BRADSTREET (1612–1672) wrote lyrical, religious and personal poetry. She is the author of To My Dear and Loving Husband. MARY ROWLANDSON (1637–1711) gives us the image of a woman’s life in the colonial period. Her A Narrative of the Captivity and Restoration of Mrs. Mary Rowlandson tells her story of being kidnapped by Native Americans. The book became a bestseller.
