European Report on Child Injury Prevention Dinesh Sethi,World Health Organization. Regional Office for Europe,2008 Injuries are a leading cause of death and disability in children This report presents evidence on how they can be prevented and calls for greater commitment and action from policy makers and practitioners to decrease the burden Every year unintentional injuries kill nearly 42 000 children and young people under the age of 20 in the WHO European Region Injuries are the leading cause of death among those aged 5 19 years and 5 out of 6 of these deaths occur in low and middle income countries Irrespective of country income the burden falls disproportionately on children from the most disadvantaged groups The leading types of unintentional injuries are road traffic injuries drowning poisoning burns and falls All injury types have similar main causes and socioeconomic and environmental determinants Children are particularly vulnerable to injuries and need special consideration to safeguard their rights to health and safe environments free from injury This report companion to the World Report on Child Injury Prevention presents the evidence on both the great potential for injury prevention and the effectiveness and value for money of measures already in use in European countries with low injury mortality It shows why health systems and particularly programs for child health throughout the WHO European Region should give priority to preventing and controlling child injury Sports Injuries Michael Hutson,Cathy Speed,2011-03-17

America's Crisis of Values Wayne E. Baker,2013-10-31 Is America bitterly divided Has America lost its traditional values Many politicians and religious leaders believe so as do the majority of Americans based on public opinion polls taken over the past several years But is this crisis of values real This book explores the moral terrain of America today analyzing the widely held perception that the nation is in moral decline It looks at the question from a variety of angles examining traditional values secular values religious values family values economic values and others Using unique data from the World Values

Surveys the largest systematic attempt ever made to document attitudes values and beliefs around the world this book systematically evaluates the perceived crisis of values by comparing America s values with those of over 60 other nations The results are surprising The evidence shows overwhelmingly that America has not lost its traditional values that the nation compares favorably with most other societies and that the culture war is largely a myth The gap between reality and perception does not represent mass ignorance of the facts or an overblown moral panic Baker contends Rather the widespread perception of a crisis of values is a real and legitimate interpretation of life in a society that is in the middle of a fundamental transformation and that contains growing cultural contradictions Instead of posing a problem the author argues this crisis rhetoric serves the valuable social function of reminding us of what it means to be American As such it preserves the ideological foundation of the nation
