Question: What nutrients does each food sample contain?

1. Collect data: Use the four available tests to find the nutritional content of samples E, G, and M. (Sample A has been done for you as an example.) Record results on the table below.

| Food sample | Carbohydrate Tests |            | Protein Test | Lipids Test    | Test results – are these nutrients present? |          |          |        |

|             | Benedict test      | Lugol test | Biuret test  | Sudan Red test | Mono-saccharides                            | Starches | Proteins | Lipids |
| A           | +                  | –          | –            | –              | Yes                                         | No       | No       | No     |
| E           | -                  | -          | +            | +              | no                                          | no       | yes      | yes    |
| G           | -                  | -          | -            | -              | no                                          | no       | no       | no     |
| M           | -                  | +          | -            | -              | no                                          | yes      | no       | no     |

2. Analyze: Look at the results for samples A, E, G, and M.

- A. Is sample E most likely to be steak, bread, or butter? Justify your answer.

Steak, as it contains both proteins and fats.

- B. Is sample G most likely to be table sugar, pasta, or olive oil? Justify your answer.

Since we did not test for disaccharides and they do not display the test findings for proteins, carbs, or lipids, Sample G would be table sugar.

- C. Is sample M most likely to be chicken, rice, a mango, or butter? Justify your answer.

Because rice is a starch and food sample M passed the Lugol test, rice is a good choice.
