An Unsuitable Mother:

An Unsuitable Mother Sheelagh Kelly, 2008-12-22 A memorable saga from one of the best loved writers of the genre Sheelagh Kelly gives us the pain and determination of the people of York during the Second World War Memoirs of an Unfit Mother Anne Robinson, 2017-06-29 Anne Robinson's mother was a cross between Robert Maxwell and Mother Teresa When Anne became a young reporter in Fleet Street her mother a wealthy market trader bought her a mink coat and told her to have a facial once a month But Anne Robinson's early success almost ended in her destruction A doomed marriage was followed by a secret custody battle for her two year old daughter Emma Is it true her husband's barrister demanded in court you once said you'd rather cover the Vietnam War than vacuum the sitting room A shocking funny poignant and honest account of three generations of women Anne's formidable mother Anne and her daughter Emma Memoirs of an Unfit Mother tells of Anne's downfall the shame of the years after the custody battle and her subsequent alcoholism And the triumph of returning to take a second go at life And making it work Writing Back Through Our Mothers Tegan Zimmerman, 2014 For the first time in the literary tradition the contemporary woman's historical novel post 1970 is surveyed from a transnational feminist perspective Analyzing the maternal the genre's central theme reveals that historical fiction is a transnational feminist means for challenging historical erasures silences normative sexuality political exclusion and divisions of labor Series Contributions to Transnational Feminism Vol 5 Maternity Homes for Unmarried Mothers Maud Morlock, Miss Hilary Campbell, 1946 The Mother's Manual of Children's Diseases Charles West, 1885 The Mother's magazine, ed. by Mrs. A.G. Whittelsey. [Continued as] The Mother's magazine and family preacher Mother's magazine and family preacher, 1842 Labor of Innocents Karin Lorene Zipf, 2005-05-01 On an autumn day in 1866 Wiley Ambrose and Hepsey Saunders two former slaves who lived as husband and wife received a knock at their door Three men from a plantation in Brunswick County North Carolina presented court ordered apprenticeship papers authorizing the immediate seizure of the couple's daughters fifteen year old Harriet and thirteen year old Eliza After a brief stay in jail with other children the sisters were sent to work as plantation servants and field hands until age twenty one With that startling example Karin L Zipf begins Labor of Innocents the first comprehensive exploration of forced apprenticeship in North Carolina Zipf refuses to nostalgically view apprenticeship as a benign form of vocational training for children and instead presents irrefutable evidence that the institution existed as a means to control the composition and character of families to provide alternate sources of cheap labor and to ensure a white patriarchal social order Codified by law involuntary apprenticeship allowed courts not only to define who was an unacceptable parent but also to indenture their children Disproportionately affected were the poor Zipf details the continual fluidity of the institution from its colonial origins to its twentieth century demise Over two hundred years the definition of an unfit head of household variously included black men any woman and widowed or unmarried white women depending upon the current social and political agenda of authorities Parents of both racism and sexism challenged the laws vigorously and repeatedly to no effect until progressive reforms ended apprenticeship in 1919 with passage of the Child Welfare Act. An impressive blend of legal, social, and labor history, Labor of Innocents illuminates past concepts of family and the realities families endured. The Mother's Assistant, and Child's Friend, 1846

Backlash Against Welfare Mothers Ellen Reese, 2005-07-29 Ellen Reese considers the politics of welfare in the U.S. from the 1940s to the present, offering a historical perspective on the current debates over welfare mothers, showing how racism has played a large part in the formulation of popular conceptions regarding welfare.

Norwegian Women's Writing 1850-1990 Janet Garton, 2000-12-01 Volume One in a new series, this book covers Norwegian women's writing over the last 150 years, setting literary developments against the background of the emergence and growth of the women's movement in Norway. The work is divided chronologically into three sections: the period up to 1913 when the universal suffrage was granted; the period from 1913 to 1960, a time of stagnation in the women's movement with little involvement in contemporary political, social, and economic debates; and the period from 1960 to the present day, which has seen an increasing participation of women in public life. Chapters on individual authors concentrate on the images of the women portrayed and investigate the conflicts behind the text, the tensions between the authors and their work, and the ambivalent feelings of women authors towards the act of writing. The book should be of interest to all those concerned with women's writing and with Scandinavian literature and culture. The series provides a survey, country by country, of women's writing from the beginnings of the major struggle for emancipation up to the present day. While the main emphasis is on literature, the social, political, and cultural development of each country provides a context for understanding the position and preoccupations of women writers. Modern critical currents are also taken into account in relating feminist criticism to recent critical theory. Forthcoming volumes in this series include Women's Writing in Italy 1870-1990 and Swedish Women's Writing 1850-1990.
