The book is divided into two parts. The first provides some context for the substantive treatment of the potential impact of Brexit on constitutional reform debates which forms the focus of Part II. Part II centres on various specific constitutional reform themes or issues which are explored further within the context of Brexit. For each such issue the main parameters of the debates which have taken place are sketched out before moving on to consider how it has informed or may come to be informed by the phenomenon of Brexit. By so doing it looks to some future directions for constitutional reform which take account of the factors driving the discourses which gave rise to the referendum outcome and subsequent developments as well as offering meaningful responses to these. The book will be of interest to academics, researchers and policy makers working in the areas of constitutional law, constitutional politics, philosophy and history.
