Post-Silicon and Runtime Verification for Modern Processors Ilya Wagner, Valeria Bertacco, 2010-11-25 The purpose of this book is to survey the state of the art and evolving directions in post silicon and runtime verification The authors start by giving an overview of the state of the art in verification particularly current post silicon methodologies in use in the industry both for the domain of processor pipeline design and for memory subsystems They then dive into the presentation of several new post silicon verification solutions aimed at boosting the verification coverage of modern processors dedicating several chapters to this topic The presentation of runtime verification solutions follows a similar approach This is an area of processor design that is still in its early stages of exploration and that holds the promise of accomplishing the ultimate goal of achieving complete correctness guarantees for microprocessor based computation The authors conclude the book with a look towards the future of late stage verification and its growing role in the processor life cycle Mathematical Modeling and Computational Predictions in Oncoimmunology Vladimir A. Kuznetsov, Heiko Enderling, Mark Chaplain, 2024-06-06 Cancer is a complex adaptive dynamic system that causes both local and systemic failures in the patient Cancer is caused by a number of gain of function and loss of function events that lead to cells proliferating without control by the host organism over time In cancer the immune system modulates cancer cell population heterogeneity and plays a crucial role in disease outcomes The immune system itself also generates multiple clones of different cell types with some clones proliferating quickly and maturing into effector cells By creating regulatory signals and their networks and generating effector cells and molecules the immune system recognizes and kills abnormal cells Anti cancer immune mechanisms are realized as multi layer nonlinear cellular and molecular interactions A number of factors determine the outcome of immune system tumor interactions including cancer associated antigens immune cells and host organisms
