Energy Research Abstracts ,1989 Handbook of Education Policy Research Gary Sykes,Barbara Schneider,David N. Plank,2012-09-10 Co published by Routledge for the American Educational Research Association AERA Educational policy continues to be of major concern Policy debates about economic growth and national competitiveness for example commonly focus on the importance of human capital and a highly educated workforce Defining the theoretical boundaries and methodological approaches of education policy research are the two primary themes of this comprehensive AERA sponsored Handbook Organized into seven sections the Handbook focuses on 1 disciplinary foundations of educational policy 2 methodological perspectives 3 the policy process 4 resources management and organization 5 teaching and learning policy 6 actors and institutions and 7 education access and differentiation Drawing from multiple disciplines the Handbook s over one hundred authors address three central questions What policy issues and questions have oriented current policy research What research strategies and methods have proven most fruitful And what issues questions and methods will drive future policy research Topics such as early childhood education school choice access to higher education teacher accountability and testing and measurement cut across the 63 chapters in the volume The politics surrounding these and other issues are objectively analyzed by authors and commentators Each of the seven sections concludes with two commentaries by leading scholars in the field The first considers the current state of policy design and the second addresses the current state of policy research This book is appropriate for scholars and graduate students working in the field of education policy and for the growing number of academic government and think tank researchers engaged in policy research For more information on the American Educational Research Association please visit <http://www.aera.net> Mexican American Education Study United States Commission on Civil Rights,1971 Research in Education ,1974 Federal Register ,2013-09 Mexican American Education Study Report ,1971 Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke,Reece Mills,Rod Lane,2022-02-27 In recent years there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education the chosen subject for this book Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders including students teachers parents and policymakers To be effective assessment needs to be valid reliable and fair Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way Without validity and reliability assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do As geography educators it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit for purpose assessments that track and improve student learning While there is a substantial literature on evidence based assessment in secondary school contexts

research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher educator scholars from across Australia USA South Korea Germany Switzerland and Singapore What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography providing scholarly examples of evidence based practices for assessing student s knowledge and skills

The Handbook of Contemporary Cambodia Katherine Brickell, Simon Springer, 2016-09-13 Offering a comprehensive overview of the current situation in the country The Handbook of Contemporary Cambodia provides a broad coverage of social cultural political and economic development within both rural and urban contexts during the last decade A detailed introduction places Cambodia within its global and regional frame and the handbook is then divided into five thematic sections Political and Economic Tensions Rural Developments Urban Conflicts Social Processes Cultural Currents The first section looks at the major political implications and tensions that have occurred in Cambodia as well as the changing parameters of its economic profile The handbook then highlights the major developments that are unfolding within the rural sphere before moving on to consider how cities in Cambodia and particularly Phnom Penh have become primary sites of change The fourth section covers the major processes that have shaped social understandings of the country and how Cambodians have come to understand themselves in relation to each other and the outside world Section five analyses the cultural dimensions of Cambodia s current experience and how identity comes into contact with and responds to other cultural themes Bringing together a team of leading scholars on Cambodia the handbook presents an understanding of how sociocultural and political economic processes in the country have evolved It is a cutting edge and interdisciplinary resource for scholars and students of Southeast Asian Studies as well as policymakers sociologists and political scientists with an interest in contemporary Cambodia

Homework, Learning and Academic Success: The Role of Family and Contextual Variables Antonio Valle, Susana Rodríguez, Pedro Rosário, Mar Lorenzo Moledo, 2020-02-24 The main purpose of this Research Topic is to analyze and identify the main family and contextual variables that are involved in the process of carrying out homework This will require studying the role played by teachers students and families in order to ensure that schoolwork is a useful learning tool Although the role of the student is obviously crucial in homework research has focused on the cumulative time spent by the student carrying out homework However the time spent on homework is not in itself evidence of the student s involvement nor is time spent indicative of quality time Indeed an excess of time can sometimes denote low competence in a field of knowledge while spending less time on homework could be indicative of high competence It is more likely that a high dedication of time spent on homework reflects high motivation or comprehension deficits rather than commitment to learning or academic motivation In tandem with the role of the student teachers as responsible for prescribing homework assignments for students also become central players in the process of completing homework assignments The decisions that teachers make about homework prescriptions and the amount and type of tasks they set will determine to a large extent the quality of the homework process including the student s motivation and the student s level of engagement with homework Furthermore the fact that homework is useful interesting and motivating for students will depend on how the teacher prescribes those tasks and the connection established with classroom learning Teacher feedback also acquires particular relevance for this point by helping the students to accurately estimate the quality of their progress and overcome the difficulties they may have encountered in carrying out their homework Lastly the effectiveness of teacher feedback depends on its contribution to the student s educational progress and how that student will perform in the future In addition to the student who performs the task and the teacher who prescribes and corrects it we must not lose sight of parents role Although there are discrepancies regarding the role that parents play in relation to homework it is evident that their implication has important consequences not only on the final result of those tasks but also on the very process of carrying them out Everything seems to indicate that the family environment and more specifically the support and feedback provided by parents is a factor that can determine the involvement of students in school duties In this way providing emotional support encouraging children to get involved can contribute positively to improving their motivation and interest in the performance of homework The objective of this Research Topic is to provide researchers and professionals in psychology and education settings with some of the most recent empirical evidence regarding the homework process its prescription and correction Overall we aim to cease making homework a source of conflict and controversy at the socio educational level in order to provide useful instruments for improving the quality of student learning This work was developed with the financing of the research projects EDU2013 44062 P MINECO EDU2017 82984 P MEIC
