Anna the Adventuress Edward Phillips Oppenheim, 2020-11-29 The girl paused and steadied herself for a moment against a field gate Her breath came fast in little sobbing pants Her dainty shoes were soiled with dust and there was a great tear in her skirt Very slowly very fearfully she turned her head Her cheeks were the colour of chalk her eyes were filled with terror If a cart were coming or those labourers in the field had heard escape was impossible The terror faded from her eyes A faint gleam of returning colour gave her at once a more natural appearance So far as the eye could reach the white level road with its fringe of elm trees was empty Away off in the fields the blue smocked peasants bent still at their toil They had heard nothing seen nothing A few more minutes and she was safe Yet before she turned once more to resume her flight she schooled herself with an effort to look where it had happened A dark mass of wreckage over which hung a slight mist of vapour lay half in the ditch half across the hedge close under a tree from the trunk of which the bark had been torn and stripped A few yards further off something grey inert was lying a huddled up heap of humanity twisted into a strange unnatural shape Again the chalky pallor spread even to her lips her eyes became lit with the old terror She withdrew her head with a little moan and resumed her flight Away up on the hillside was the little country railway station She fixed her eyes upon it and ran keeping always as far as possible in the shadow of the hedge gazing fearfully every now and then down along the valley for the white smoke of the train
