It is better to hyperextend your arms than to let your shoulders flare outwards with your arms held straight out. They will give you more power and endurance. I think that the upper arm joints will be more powerful than the lower arm joints. I think the lower arm joints are more powerful than the upper arm joints.

5. Explain the differences in demographic growth patterns of the two P. leucogaster species. What does this tell you about the Panamanian parasite communities available to each? Do consistent patterns emerge across the two parasite species profiles? Discuss the implications of the differences noted.

1. There has been a great deal of concern about the possibility of a population boom resulting from the large rise in life expectancy. This article suggests that perhaps the possibility of a population boom will be averted by the fact that the large increase in life expectancy will be accompanied by a corresponding decrease in the birth rate. The author argues that the large increase in life expectancy will be accompanied by a corresponding decrease in the birth rate, and that this will result in a stable population.
