Displacement Sensor and Speed Sensor Study Using a Single Fiber Bragg Grating (FBG) Esaduwha Stanley Obukohwo,2014 Fluid Rotary Speed Sensor Werner H. Egli,Donald J. Erickson,DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE WASHINGTON D C.,1972 The patent describes a fluid rotary speed sensor having a concave cylindrical surface placed in close proximity to a rotating shaft and with a slight eccentricity so that the clearance between the shaft and the concave cylindrical surface varies as a function of circumferential angle Hydrodynamic pumping causes a differential pressure between two suitably located taps in the concave surface This differential pressure is proportional to the shaft speed

Lensless Magneto-optic Speed Sensor ,1998 Lensless magneto optic speed sensor The construction of a viable Faraday sensor has been achieved Multimode fiber bundles are used to collect the light If coupled directly into a 100 or 200 μ m core fiber light from a light emitting diode LED is sufficient to operate the sensor In addition LEDs ensure that no birefringence effects in the input fiber are possible as the output from such light sources have random polarization No lens is required since the large diameter optical fibers and thin crystals of materials having high Verdet constants such as iron garnets employed permit the collection of a substantial quantity of light No coupler is required The maximum amount of light which could reach a detector using a coupler is 25% while the measured throughput of the fiber optic bundle without a coupler is about 42% All of the elements employed in the present sensor are planar and no particular orientation of these elements is required The present sensor operates over a wide range of distances from magnetic field sources and observed signals are large When a tone wheel is utilized the signals are independent of wheel speed and the modulation is observed to be about 75% No sensitivity to bends in the input or output optical fiber leads was observed Reliable operation was achieved down to zero frequency or no wheel rotation
