Dreaming Barbara Tedlock, 1987-11-12 The authors Jungian analysts write for psychoanalysts and therapists who wish to integrate dream interpretation into their clinical practice In this book first published hardcover in 1987 ten contributing anthropologists and psychologists explore the ways in which dreams are remembered recounted shared or not shared interpreted and used by peoples around the world Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Family Investments in Children's Potential Ariel Kalil, Thomas DeLeire, 2004-07-22 The papers in this volume bring together a cross disciplinary mix of researchers developmental psychologists evolutionary biologists economists anthropologists and sociologists working on the common theme of investments in children The interdisciplinary conceptual framework adopted by this collection of papers is loosely built around the idea that there are two broad dimensions of parental investments These include resources e g income wealth on the one hand and behaviors e g parental instrumental support and parental activities that promote warmth socialization and cognitive stimulation on the other Believing that parental investments yield a return in improved child and young adult outcomes the papers discuss how parents differ in terms of the resources they have available to invest the choices parents make the behaviors they engage in and relevant policy and program interventions More specifically core questions addressed by the authors include Why do some families invest while others do not and are differential investment patterns related to biology economics or social factors What constitutes a successful investment portfolio How are investments measured and or characterized Are different investments interchangeable compensating or off setting Given a set of resources why are some families able to make more effective investments in child outcomes How well do these investments affect outcomes for children and for these children as young adults Can interventions or public policies help families build assets or become better investors in their children s potential Developing a better understanding of what investments matter when they matter and how resources can be successfully invested in children s potential is key to shaping efficient interventions and social policies Knowledge of how parents invest and what strategies are effective may help policies which seek to further empower and enable parental involvement and choice for their children

Writing with Reason Monroe C. Beardsley, 1976 Multimodality John Bateman, Janina Wildfeuer, Tuomo Hiippala, 2017-04-10 This textbook provides the first foundational introduction to the practice of analysing multimodality covering the full breadth of media and situations in which multimodality needs to be a concern Readers learn via use cases how to approach any multimodal situation and to derive their own specifically tailored sets of methods for conducting and evaluating analyses Extensive references and critical discussion of existing approaches from many disciplines and in each of the multimodal domains addressed are provided The authors adopt a problem oriented perspective throughout showing how an appropriate foundation for understanding multimodality as a phenomenon can be used to derive strong methodological guidance for analysis as well as supporting the adoption and combination of appropriate theoretical tools Theoretical positions found in the literature are consequently always related back to the purposes of analysis rather than being promoted as valuable in their own right By these means the book establishes the necessary theoretical foundations to engage productively with today s increasingly complex combinations of multimodal artefacts and performances of all kinds
