Index to Current Literature , 1859 Bradshaw's monthly railway and steam navigation guide George

Bradshaw,1905 Coordinate Systems and Map Projections D.H. Maling,2013-10-22 A revised and expanded new edition of the definitive English work on map projections The revisions take into account the huge advances in geometrical geodesy which have occurred since the early years of satellite geodesy The detailed configuration of the geoid resulting from the GEOS and SEASAT altimetry measurements are now taken into consideration Additionally the chapter on computation of map projections is updated bearing in mind the availability of pocket calculators and microcomputers Analytical derivation of some map projections including examples of pseudocylindrical and polyconic projections is also covered Work undertaken in the USA and USSR on the creation of suitable map projections obtained through numerical analysis has been included The book concludes with a chapter on the abuse and misrepresentation of map projections An invaluable reference source for professional cartographers and all those interested in the fundamental problems of mapping the Earth Rhumb Lines and Map Wars Mark Monmonier,2010-11-15 In Rhumb Lines and Map Wars Mark Monmonier offers an insightful richly illustrated account of the controversies surrounding Flemish cartographer Gerard Mercator's legacy He takes us back to 1569 when Mercator announced a clever method of portraying the earth on a flat surface creating the first projection to take into account the earth's roundness As Monmonier shows mariners benefited most from Mercator's projection which allowed for easy navigation of the high seas with rhumb lines clear cut routes with a constant compass bearing for true direction But the projection's popularity among nineteenth century sailors led to its overuse often in inappropriate non navigational ways for wall maps world atlases and geopolitical propaganda Because it distorts the proportionate size of countries the Mercator map was criticized for inflating Europe and North America in a promotion of colonialism In 1974 German historian Arno Peters proffered his own map on which countries were ostensibly drawn in true proportion to one another In the ensuing map wars of the 1970s and 1980s these dueling projections vied for public support with varying degrees of success Widely acclaimed for his accessible intelligent books on maps and mapping Monmonier here examines the uses and limitations of one of cartography's most significant innovations With informed skepticism he offers insightful interpretations of why well intentioned clerics and development advocates rallied around the Peters projection which flagrantly distorted the shape of Third World nations why journalists covering the controversy ignored alternative world maps and other key issues and how a few postmodern writers defended the Peters worldview with a self serving overstatement of the power of maps Rhumb Lines and Map Wars is vintage Monmonier historically rich beautifully written and fully engaged with the issues of our time
