Carbon nanotubes are a recently discovered allotrope of carbon. Three other allotropes of carbon—buckyballs, graphite, and diamond—are illustrated at the left, as is the molecule methane (CH_4) from which nanotubes and buckyballs can be made. The element carbon forms an amazing number of compounds with structures that follow from simple methane found in natural gas to the complex macromolecules that serve as the basis of life on our planet. The study of chemistry also follows from the simple to the more complex, and the strength of this text is that it enables students with varied backgrounds to proceed together to significant levels of achievement. Student Study Guide and Solutions
