1988 I Want To Talk With The World:

Rebel Men Pamela Hunt, 2022-05-10 Masculinity fast changing and regularly declared to be in the throes of crisis is attracting more popular and scholarly debate in China than ever before At the same time Chinese literature since 1989 has been characterized as brimming with countercultural attitude This book probes the link between literary rebellion and manhood in China showing how as male writers critique the outcomes of decades of market reform they also ask the same question how best to be a man in the new postsocialist order In this first full length discussion of masculinity in post 1989 Chinese literature Pamela Hunt offers a detailed analysis of four contemporary authors in particular Zhu Wen Feng Tang Xu Zechen and Han Han In a series of insightful readings she explores how all four writers show the same preoccupation with the figure of the man on the edges of society Drawing on longstanding Chinese and global models of maverick as well as marginal masculinity and responding to a desire to retain a measure of masculine authority their characters all engage in forms of transgression that still rely heavily on heteronormative and patriarchal values Rebel Men argues that masculinity so often overlooked in literary analysis of contemporary China continues to be renegotiated debated and agonized over and is ultimately reconstructed as more powerful than before An exceptionally lucid elegant study of masculinity in mainland Chinese fiction of the 1990s and 2000s Both historically and theoretically informed Rebel Men Masculinity and Attitude in Postsocialist Chinese Literature offers a major new perspective on post 1989 Chinese counterculture Julia Lovell Birkbeck University of London

Common Worlds and Single Lives Verena Keck,2020-08-20 In Pacific societies local knowledge which has been accumulated over thousands of years and is irreplaceable is rapidly disappearing With the extinction of languages the ability to observe and interpret the world from varying perspectives is also being lost At the same time an enormous body of knowledge about nature plants and animals is vanishing However in parallel with this the people of the Pacific are confronted with new modes of knowledge and newly introduced technologies through imported educational systems missions of various denominations and the media They do not passively assimilate this knowledge but adopt adapt and apply it in a syncretistic way These changes will have permanent effects on the individual lives of people in the region and their knowledge about themselves and their surrounding world This stimulating book tracks the course of these developments and offers revealing insights into the complexity of Pacific peoples responses to the process of globalization Ronald Reagan United States. Grazing in Future Multi-scapes: From Thoughtscapes to Landscapes, Creating Health from the Ground Up Pablo Gregorini,Iain James Gordon,Carol Kerven,Fred Provenza,2022-09-27 This Research Topic is hosted in partnership with the Grazing in Future Multi Scapes international workshop The workshop will be held online 30th May 5th June 2021 Throughout different landscapes of the world grazing herbivores fulfill essential roles in ecology agriculture economies and cultures including families farms and communities Not only do livestock provide food and wealth they also deliver ecosystem services through the roles they play in environmental composition structure and dynamics Grazing as a descriptive adjective locates herbivores within a spatial and temporal pastoral context where they naturally graze or are grazed by farmers ranchers shepherds etc In many cases however pastoralism with the single objective of maximizing animal production and or profit has transformed landscapes diminishing biodiversity reducing water and air quality accelerating loss of soil and plant biomass and displacing indigenous animals and people These degenerative landscape transformations have jeopardized present and future ecosystem and societal services breaking the natural integration of land water air health society and culture Land users policy makers and societies are calling for alternative approaches to pastoral systems a call for diversified adaptive and integrative agro ecological and food pastoral systems designs that operate across multiple scales and scapes e g thought social land food health wild scapes simultaneously There needs to be a paradigm shift in pastoral production systems and how grazing herbivores are managed grazed within them derived initially from a change in perception of how they provide wealth The thoughtsapes will include paradigm shifts where grazers move away from the actual archetype of pastoralism future landscapes are re imagined and regenerative and sustainable management paradigms are put in place to achieve these visions From this will come a change in collective thinking of how communities and cultures socialscapes perceive their relationships with pastoral lands The landscapes are the biotic and abiotic four dimensional domains or environments in need of nurture Landscapes are the tables where humans and herbivores gain their nourishment i e foodscapes Foodscapes and dietary perceptions dictate actions and reactions that are changing as developed countries grapple with diseases related to obesity and people starve in developing countries Societies are demanding healthscapes and nutraceutical foodscapes and paradoxically some are moving away from animal products While indigenous species of animals including humans wildscapes have been displaced from many of their lands by monotonic pastoralism multifunctional pastoral systems can be designed in view of dynamic multi scapes of the future The purpose of this Research Topic is to influence future mental and practical models of pastoralism in continually evolving multi scapes We seek a collection of papers that will cultivate such a shift in thinking towards future models of sustainable multipurpose pastoralism The contributions will be synthesized to establish how multifunctional pastoral systems can be re imagined and then designed in view of the integrative dynamics of sustainable future multi scapes
