One thing that is great about Amazon is that it is like one-stop shopping. You send them to the site, they buy your advertised item, and then they shop some more; you get paid. Or if they leave the site but come back within 24 hours, you still get your commission. So let's look at an example. You send a potential customer to the site because they are going to buy a book you promoted. When they get there, they not only find and buy the book, they buy a headset and then finish their purchase with a new phone. Now you'll get paid commission on all of those items. Whether you are new to affiliate marketing or have been around for some time, if you find yourself struggling, you have just landed at the right place because by the time you are finished reading this article, you will be ready to maximize your income with the right affiliate program. What was one of the first things you wanted to sell when you were a kid? Did you have a lemonade stand that went bust after two weeks, or did you sell baseball bats at little league games? Whatever kickstarted your selling career shows the true determination of a natural-born seller that was meant to take advantage of one of the world's greatest merchandise companies, Amazon. Amazon has been around for over 25 years, and it only continues to build momentum. Once marketed as only an online bookstore, it was unclear if the company would survive the next few years against such large alternatives such as Barnes & Noble. The company was completely internet-based, which many thought would be the end of the website, but it only became more popular with the addition of new products such as music and clothes. Some may not realize that the company that started off as an internet-based store for books was one of the first platforms to encourage outside sales. Originally called zShops, people could market original work or hard-to-find items. The idea exploded as more than half a million people purchased something on Amazon by 2000. Jeff Bezos was dubbed the king of e-commerce in 2001, just seven years after Amazon's launch. From its birth until now, Amazon has acquired 40 companies but its major commerce is now in its third party marketers Outside sellers make up more than 50% of Amazon commerce today and that number is only growing over the years Online shopping has become the norm and Amazon is leading the way in sales accumulating billions of dollars every year and its third party sellers are riding the train to financial freedom Amazon FBA was officially launched in 2006 so it is far from the newest selling platform but it has shaped the path for other platforms of its kind and it should be considered as the best service possible Sellers can use accounts created with Amazon to sell their own merchandise with small fees collected by Amazon With the internet growing in importance every year selling online has never been easier But why would you want to get involved with Amazon FBA Well if you have a knack for selling products feel as though you have always wanted an online store or just want to try something new Amazon FBA is one of the easiest ways to get started From its promises of prime delivery to customers to its total management of your products as soon as they are delivered to the warehouse Amazon has you covered They provide a service unmatched by any outside company and they make selling easier every year
