Regulatory State Contraction Daniel BaracsKay, 2000 US Defense Politics Harvey M. Sapolsky, Eugene Gholz, Caitlin Talmadge, 2013-12-04 This textbook provides an accessible overview of US defense politics This edition has been fully updated and revised with a new chapter on intelligence and new material on unmanned drones women in the military the Tea Party and other key issues American Government and Popular Discontent Steven E. Schier, Todd E. Eberly, 2013-07-18 Popular distrust and the entrenchment of government by professionals lie at the root of America's most pressing political problems How did U S politics get to this point Contemporary American politics got much of its shape from the transformations brought about from the 1950s to the 1980s Presidential and congressional behavior voting behavior public opinion public policy and federalism were all reconfigured during that time and many of those changes persist to this day and structure the political environment in the early twenty first century Throughout American history parties have been a reliable instrument for translating majority preferences into public policy From the 1950s to the 1980s a gradual antiparty realignment alongside the growth of professional government produced a new American political system of remarkable durability and remarkable dysfunction It is a system that is paradoxically stable despite witnessing frequent shifts in party control of the institutions of government at the state and national level Schier and Eberly's system level view of American politics demonstrates the disconnect between an increasingly polarized and partisan elite and an increasingly disaffected mass public African Land Questions, Agrarian Transitions and the State Sam Moyo, 2008 This empirically grounded study provides a critical reflection on the land question in Africa research on which tends to be tangential conceptually loose and generally inadequate It argues that the most pressing research concern must be to understand the precise nature of the African land question its land reforms and their effects on development To unravel the roots of land conflicts in Africa requires thorough understanding of the complex social and political contradictions which have ensued from colonial and post colonial land policies as well as from Africa's development and capital accumulation trajectories especially with regard to the land rights of the continent's poor. The study thus questions the capacity of emerging neo liberal economic and political regimes in Africa to deliver land reforms which address growing inequality and poverty. It equally questions the understanding of the nature of popular demands for land reforms by African states and their ability to address these demands under the current global political and economic structures dictated by neo liberalism and its narrow regime of ownership. The study invites scholars and policy makers to creatively draw on the specific historical trajectories and contemporary expression of the land and agrarian questions in Africa to enrich both theory and practice on land in Africa.

System Under Stress: Homeland Security and American Politics Donald F. Kettl, 2013-03-12. In System under Stress: The Challenge to 21st Century Democracy Third Edition Donald F. Kettl looks at the latest stress to hit the system: the financial crisis of 2008. In his brief gripping narrative Kettl assesses how well the U.S. political system responds under extraordinary pressure from 9/11 to Hurricane Katrina to the Great Recession and asks if the government is ready to face that next challenge. A well known scholar, commentator and writer in the areas of federalism and governance Kettl asks the hard questions, makes a credible and persuasive argument and crafts a readable case study that is fascinating and thought provoking.

Project on National Security Reform Case Studies, 2012. On November 26, 2008, the Project on National Security Reform submitted its 2 year study of the national security system: Forging a new shield to the President. President elect and Congress. The study found that the national security system was at risk of failure and needed serious reform. Before the Project finalized the report's recommendations, its Vision Working Group tested the findings against a diverse set of scenarios to determine if the recommendations were robust and effective. This testing revealed that each of the five major findings improved the performance of the current national security system. Volume 1 documents the scenario testing process used by the Vision Working Group. It includes the actual pre reform and post reform scenarios and details many other scenario techniques used in the overall study. The studies featured in Volume 2 span from the Eisenhower administration to the present day, offering diverse lessons and covering a range of issues from public diplomacy to nonproliferation to biodefense to peacekeeping and alliance management among others.

U.S. Responses to Self-determination Movements Patricia Carley, United States Institute of Peace, 1997. Experts on international law and state sovereignty discussed the right to self-determination: its origins, what it entails and the nature of international legal language sanctioning and defining it. Focusing on U.S. policy toward actual self-determination and separatist movements and the strategies and options available to the United States to mediate or intercede in them, the Institute of Peace and the State Department's Policy Planning Staff held a second meeting in March 1996 to examine ways that the United States and the international community might work to promote successful outcomes to territorial or separatist disputes with successful broadly defined as nonviolent and nonsecessionist.
