James Johnson

9 Eos Owners Manual:

Canon EOS 5D Mark III James Johnson, 2012-12-28 The Canon EOS 5D Mark III is the latest in Canon's line of full frame DSLR cameras. Its impressive array of capabilities and advanced controls allow the photographer ever more influence over the final image. With this comes more menu buttons and dials that the photographer must learn how to use to take full advantage of the camera. This book explores the features and capabilities of the 5D Mark III in a way that far surpasses the user's manual. It guides readers through the camera features with step by step setting adjustments, color illustrations and detailed how, when and why explanations for each option. Every button, dial, switch and menu configuration setting is explored in a user friendly manner with suggestions for setup. The informative text is illustrated with screenshots and example images throughout, making it easy to follow along. Author James Johnson covers everything from the basic features of the camera to the numerous advanced photographic options as he discusses topics such as focus and exposure, lenses, lighting, custom settings and more. With this book as your guide, you'll learn how to get the most out of this powerful camera.

Photogrammetry of a 5m Inflatable Space Antenna with Consumer Digital Cameras Richard S. Pappa, 2000 This paper discusses photogrammetric measurements of a 5m diameter inflatable space antenna using four Kodak DC290 2.1 megapixel digital cameras. The study had two objectives: 1. Determine the photogrammetric measurement precision obtained using multiple consumer grade digital cameras and 2. Gain experience with new commercial photogrammetry software packages, specifically PhotoModeler Pro from Eos Systems Inc. The paper covers the eight steps required using this hardware/software combination. The baseline data set contained four images of the structure taken from various viewing directions. Each image came from a separate camera. This approach simulated the situation of using multiple time-synchronized cameras which will be required in future tests of vibrating or deploying ultra-lightweight space structures. With four images, the average measurement precision for more than 500 points on the antenna surface was less than 0.020 inches in-plane and approximately 0.050 inches out of plane.

AMST'05 Advanced Manufacturing Systems and Technology Elso Kuljanic, 2007-03-23 Manufacturing a product is not difficult; the difficulty consists in manufacturing a product of high quality at a low cost and rapidly. Drastic technological advances are changing global markets very rapidly. In such conditions, the ability to compete successfully must be based on innovative ideas and new products which have to be of high quality yet low in price. One way to achieve these objectives would be through massive investments in research of computer-based technology and by applying the approaches presented in this book. The First International Conference on Advanced Manufacturing Systems and Technology (AMST87) was held in Opatija, Croatia, in October 1987. The Second International Conference on Advanced Manufacturing Systems and Technology (AMSV90) was held in Trento, Italy, in June 1990. The Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Conferences on Advanced Manufacturing Systems and Technology were all held in Udine, Italy, as follows: AMST93 in April 1993, AMST96 in September 1996, AMST99 in June 1999 and AMST02 in June 2002. AR 700-138 02/26/2004

Digital cameras both in traditional form factors and as parts of cell phones have become ubiquitous over the last decade. But for the most part they remain black boxes to the end user and cannot be reprogrammed or modified. This has become an obstacle to researchers in the new field of computational photography who want to use the growing computing power of digital cameras to create images no traditional camera could produce. This dissertation presents the Frankencamera platform, a digital camera system designed for computational photography. The Frankencamera is a fully open, fully programmable digital camera which can be easily modified to test out new research ideas. The Frankencamera architecture allows for per frame control of the capture process and accurate synchronization of all the components that make up the camera. Based on this architecture, this dissertation details two hardware platforms: the F2, a flexible custom built camera, and the Nokia N900, a commercial smartphone. Both platforms can be easily programmed at a high level using the FCam API, written to embody the Frankencamera architecture. Finally, this dissertation presents several sample applications for the Frankencamera platform. Several of these applications could not have been developed for any existing camera platform, and the ease and speed at which they were written show that the Frankencamera platform is a compelling tool for computational photography.

Controlling the Morphology of Polymers Geoffrey R. Mitchell, Ana Tojeira, 2016-09-06. This book focuses on controlling morphology of different scales for polymers. The authors explain the need for successful control of morphology to yield target macroscopic physical properties in the application of polymers to diverse areas such as engineering materials, nanodielectrics, and photonic crystals. The book combines specialized chapters with an introduction to the morphology of polymers and the range of experimental techniques available to evaluate it. Energy Research Abstracts, 1984
