Flying Magazine ,1998-02 Full speed ahead Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee,2010-03-22 Motorsport and aerospace are two industries in which the United Kingdom is a world leader and the Committee believes that the future success of the UK economy will be based on these types of industries Concerns regarding the aerospace included the current US complaint in the World Trade organisation and the Government s right to support the industry through Repayable Launch Investment and that the UK aerospace sector has access to export trade credit at less favourable rates and through a more complex system than other countries In examining the motorsport industry the Committee felt that there was a lack of understanding and effective engagement by Government They are not content with the Government s current plans to take forward its work with the sector through the UK Automotive Council Instead they recommend that the Government establish a dedicated motorsport policy team within the Department for Business Innovation and Skills Small and medium sized enterprises also play a very important role in supporting both sectors but they have been hit worst by the recession and the Government needs to do more to encourage high performance engineering firms to diversify Both sectors require a highly skilled workforce and more needs to be done to align the education system with the skills needs of the industries Finally is the problem of the non green image that both industries have

Flight time limitations Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Transport Committee, 2012-05-30 This report examines draft proposals from the European Aviation Safety Agency EASA to change the rules that govern how many hours a pilot can fly The Transport Committee warns that working hours and conditions for pilots and cabin crew must be improved or safety could be at risk Currently the UK implements stricter flight time regulations than some other European countries but under the new rules proposed by the European Aviation Safety Agency the UK would not be able to have its own regime and the UK's current standards would be lowered Fatigue is already an issue in aviation 43% of pilots have reported falling asleep involuntarily at some point whilst on duty under the UK's current regulatory framework The Committee recognises that flight time limitations are complex regulations but the report highlights several issues where there is clear scope for improvement The proposed 11 hour duty period at night for pilots flies in the face of scientific evidence and should be reduced to a 10 hour maximum There is added concern that a pilot could land a plane after 22 hours awake The Civil Aviation Authority must do more to monitor pilot hours so that long duty periods are the exception not the rule and must address a culture of under reporting of pilot fatigue MPs accept that common European flight time limitations could improve aviation safety for UK passengers travelling on non UK airlines However for these benefits to be realised the European standards must be uniformly high
