The Politics of Education in Developing Countries Sam Hickey, Naomi Hossain, 2019-02-21 Why have many developing countries that have succeeded in expanding access to education made such limited progress on improving learning outcomes There is a growing recognition that the learning crisis constitutes a significant dimension of global inequality and also that educational outcomes in developing countries are shaped by political as well as socio economic and other factors The Politics of Education in Developing Countries focuses on how politics shapes the capacity and commitment of elites to tackle the learning crisis in six developing countries Bangladesh Cambodia Ghana Rwanda South Africa and Uganda The problem of education quality is serious across the Global South The Politics of Education in Developing Countries From Schooling to Learning deploys a new conceptual framework the domains of power approach to show how the type of political settlement shapes the level of elite commitment and state capacity to improving learning outcomes The domain of education is prone to being highly politicized as it offers an important source of both rents and legitimacy to political elites and can be central to paradigmatic elite ideas around nation building and modernity Of particular importance is the relative strength of coalitions pushing for access as against those focused on issues of higher quality education This book concludes with a discussion of entry points and strategies for thinking and working politically in relation to education quality reforms and critical commentaries

Setting Consensus Goals for Academic Achievement James Pellegrino,Laurens Wise,Nambury Raju,2014-10-13

This special issue is based on a workshop which began with a description and examination of the current National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP standard setting model then looked to standard setting applications outside of education These applications included those that focus on human performance and the adequacy of human performance in these contexts raters were asked to focus on the knowledge and skills that underlie competent performance Researchers also examined applications that focus on the impact of environmental agents on life and the ecology in these cases raters began with the knowledge that more or less of a substance is better and as for NAEP the judgment task was to determine how good is good enough They wished to examine parallels in the objectives empirical grounding judgmental requirements and policy tensions for standard setting in NAEP and in other domains These papers were commissioned to examine the current state of affairs and residual issues with respect to achievement level setting in NAEP and to help determine whether the models and methods used in other disciplines have useful application to education It is important to note that the papers represent the authors views not necessarily those of the committee or National Research Council This issue and the workshop discussion point out a number of analogies between the objectives requisite data judgment requirements and policy issues for NAEP and other applications The editors hope that this issue and wide distribution of these papers will prompt others to join in this interesting analysis and debate

Global Perspective on Issues and Trends in Educational Translanguaging Bautista, Jude Cañero, Kim, Jean, 2025-05-29 The growing superdiversity around the world now appears to be the norm In traditional English speaking inner circle nations it is becoming increasingly rare to find classrooms with students who come from monocultural and monolingual backgrounds However teaching practices remain based on Anglocentric standards and perspectives even when most of the English speakers in the world are no longer just the monolingual speakers of the language Research in bilingualism and multilingualism reverberate the potential of translanguaging as a pedagogical practice This is to leverage all the linguistic cultural and semiotic resources of learners so that they can actively engage in the language literacy and content area learning processes in the classroom However even though it has gained ground in theory and research it has not been upheld in instructional practice especially in the Anglophone nations While some regions view translanguaging as a pathway to educational justice others face barriers such as limited resources administrative constraints or lack of teacher training Despite its promise concerns remain around the selective use of languages and the risk of reinforcing existing linguistic hierarchies Global Perspective on Issues and Trends in Educational Translanguaging explores translanguaging pedagogies from both monolingual English speaking contexts and multilingual and multicultural contexts It examines a monolingual multilingual pairing of theoretical research and practical perspectives from around the world assessing how translanguaging pedagogies are practiced and researched worldwide This book covers topics such as indigenous studies migrant learners and pedagogy and is a useful resource for educators language experts academicians researchers and scientists
