Popular Science, 1951-12 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world. The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share: The future is going to be better, and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better. Focus on Farming, 2007 Managing Innovation John Ettl, 2007-06-07 Managing Innovation: New Technology, New Products, and New Services in a Global Economy, 2nd Edition, is devoted to providing a better understanding and better management of all of the causes and consequences of change that have technological implications in and around our global organizations. This text is a unique original contribution and represents a significant alternative to the collection of chapters written by others. The second edition has new cases, with a few classics from the first edition that have been retained in response to reader feedback. The key subjects that are included have been significantly updated and treated in greater depth. The number of chapters has been reduced from 12 to 10, so it is easy to adapt to almost any course or training on the subject in any discipline or to any audience. This exceptionally informative book provides a broad perspective on how technological change can be effectively managed in modern organizations. The text explains the conceptual frameworks supported by new and original case studies for start-up companies like Askmen.com, the complex challenges of managing international technology-based companies like NexPress, a joint venture of Kodak and Heidelberg in the digital printing industry, and corporate sustainability using innovative new product technologies illustrated by the case of Evinrude's launch of the E-tec outboard motor. John E. Ettl, three decades in the field of innovation as an instructor and researcher, brings an exceptional perspective to this subject. His text is unique in its discussion of how technology has transformed the service sector. Few books on technology make the distinction between new offerings in manufacturing and the service sector, which is emphasized in this text. Ford Dealer and Service Field, 1929

Writers at War Isabelle Brasme, 2023-01-31 Writers at War addresses the most immediate representations of the First World War in the prose of Ford Madox Ford, May Sinclair, Siegfried Sassoon, and Mary Borden. It interrogates the various ways in which these writers contended with conveying their war experience from the temporal and spatial proximity of the warzone and investigates the multifarious impact of the war on the re-development of their aesthetics. It also interrogates to what extent these texts aligned with or challenged existing social, cultural, philosophical, and aesthetic norms. While this book is concerned with literary technique, the rich existing scholarship on questions of gender, trauma, and cultural studies on World War I literature serves as a foundation. This book does not oppose these perspectives but offers a complementary approach based on close critical reading. The distinctiveness of this study stems from its focus on the question of representation and form and on the specific role of the war in the four authors literary careers This is the first scholarly work concerned exclusively with theorising prose written from the immediacy of the war This book is intended for academics researchers PhD candidates postgraduates and anyone interested in war literature Congressional Record United States.
