

2010 Instructions for Form 1040-SS

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service

U.S. Self-Employment Tax Return (Including the Additional Child Tax Credit for Bona Fide Residents of Puerto Rico)

Section references refer to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

General Instructions

What's New

Exemption for self-employed health insurance. If you were self-employed and paid for health insurance in 2010 for you or your family, you may be able to deduct your cost. See Line 10 on page 22-8.

Maximum income subject to social security. For 2010, the maximum amount of self-employment income subject to social security tax remains at $106,800.

Optional methods to figure net earnings. For 2010, the maximum income for using the optional methods is $4,400.

Reminders

Missing work pay credit. For tax year 2010, if you have earned income that work you may be able to receive this credit. It is 8.2% of your earned income but cannot be more than $400 ($600 if married filing jointly). Qualified bona fide residents of Puerto Rico, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, and the U.S. Virgin Islands will receive this credit from their territorial governments.

Electronic filing. You may be able to e-file Form 1040-SS if you are claiming only the additional child tax credit. For general information about electronic filing, visit www.irs.gov/efile and click on "Electronic Filing."

Estimated tax payments. If you expect to owe self-employment (SE) tax of $1,000 or more for 2011, you may want to make estimated tax payments. Use Form 1040-ESS, Estimated Tax for Individuals, to figure your required payments and for the vouchers to send with your payments.

Purpose of Form

This form is for residents of the U.S. Virgin Islands (U.S.V.I.), Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI), and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico (Puerto Rico) who are not required to file a U.S. income tax return. One purpose of the form is to report net earnings from self-employment in the United States and, if necessary, pay SE tax on that income. The Social Security Administration (SSA) uses this information to figure your benefits under the social security program. SE tax applies no matter how old you are and even if you already are receiving social security or Medicare benefits.

See Who Must File below for additional uses of this form.

You may also be required to file an income tax return with the government of Guam, American Samoa, the U.S.V.I., the CNMI, or Puerto Rico. Check with your local tax office for more details.

Who Must File

You must file Form 1040-SS if you meet all three requirements below.

1. You, or your spouse if filing a joint return, had net earnings from self-employment (from other than church employee income) of $400 or more (or you had church employee income of $100.00 or more—see Church Employees on this page).
2. You do not have to file Form 1040 with the United States.
3. You are a resident of:
 - a. Guam.
 - b. American Samoa.
 - c. The U.S.V.I.
 - d. The CNMI, or
 - e. Puerto Rico (you use the either Form 1040-PR (in Spanish) or Form 1040-SS).

Even if you have a loss or little income from self-employment, it may benefit you to file Form 1040-SS and use either "optional method" in Part VI. See Part VI on page 22-8.

If (1) and (3) above apply, you also must file Form 1040-SS (or you can use Form 1040-PR in Spanish if you are a resident of Puerto Rico) to:

- Report and pay household employment taxes;
- Report and pay employee social security and Medicare tax on (a) unreported tips, (b) wages from an employer with no social security or Medicare tax withheld, or (c) uncollected social security and Medicare tax on tips or group-term life insurance; see the Instructions for Part I, line 8, on page 22-4;

- Claim excess social security tax withheld;
- Claim the additional child tax credit (bona fide residents of Puerto Rico only); and
- Claim the health coverage tax credit (bona fide residents of Puerto Rico only).

Who Must Pay SE Tax

Self-Employed Persons

You must pay SE tax if you had net earnings of $400 or more as a self-employed person. If you are in business (farm or otherwise) for yourself, you are self-employed.

You must also pay SE tax on your share of certain partnership income and your guaranteed payments. See Partnership Income or Loss beginning on page 22-6.

Church Employees

If you had church employee income of $100.00 or more, you must pay SE tax on that income. Church employee income is wages you received as an employee (other than as a minister or member of a religious order) of a church or qualified church-controlled organization that has a certificate in effect electing exemption from employer social security and Medicare taxes.

If your only income subject to self-employment tax is church employee income, skip lines 1a through 1b in Part V, line 1-2 on line 1c and go to line 5a.

Ministers and Members of Religious Orders

In most cases, you must pay SE tax on salaries and other income for services you performed as a minister, a member of a religious order who has not taken a vow of poverty, or a Christian Science practitioner. But if you filed Form 4381, Application for Exemption From Self-Employment Tax for Use by Ministers, Members of Religious Orders and Christian Science Practitioners, and received IRS approval, you will be exempt from paying SE tax on those net earnings. If you had no other income subject to SE tax and do not owe any of the taxes listed earlier under Who Must File, you are not required to file Form 1040-SS. However, if you had other earnings of $400 or more subject to SE tax, see Part V, line A.
