1agricultural Science Grade 1final Paper Limpopo:

Hyenas of the Limpopo Xolani Tshabalala, 2017-11-03 An increasing number of people today cross the Beitbridge border of South Africa and Zimbabwe. This comes with a corresponding growth of creative strategies that seek to aid the crossing of those people and goods that may lack the necessary documentation. Such informal border crossings have come to define one of the important economic regions in Southern Africa: the post 1994 Limpopo Valley. This thesis approaches routine acts of facilitating undocumented border crossings as an everyday social politics with deep historical roots. By use of archival and ethnographic methods, the thesis examines the social history and embodied practices of a variety of actors who engage in undocumented border crossings. A particular focus is placed on the role of private transporters, omalayitsha, who represent an important link between an exclusionary and yet fragmentary migration regime and undocumented travellers. In three theoretical and four empirical chapters, and inspired by border studies as well as the critical realist approach in migration studies, the thesis connects border practice to irregular movement and cheap labour within a regional context defined in part by dispossession. Through thick interpretations of the lived experience of border practice, the study also connects such political-economic processes, e.g. migrant irregularity, labour precarity and economic informality, to questions of social identity and migrant subjectivities. By situating the figure of the hyena at the centre of Southern African border struggles, the thesis invents an analytical concept that serves both an empirical and a theoretical task. Empirically, it enables a synthetic understanding of how everyday contestations around the possibility to work across the border for low-skill migrants have been interacting through time with broader processes of capital accumulation to partly shape the region's migrant labour system. Theoretically, it shows how facilitation of undocumented border crossings calls for new sociological models that can account for processes that escape binary classification as formal or informal, inclusive or exclusive, legal or illegal, ordered or disordered, thus contributing to a better understanding of the role of migration in the contemporary world.

Allt fler människor korsar idag gränsen vid Beitbridge mellan Sydafrika och Zimbabwe. Samtidigt sker en motsvarande knipning av kreativa strategier som gör att även personer och varor som saknar rätt handlingar kan ta sig över gränsen. Dessa informella gränsvärgningar har kommit att definiera vad som efter 1994 blivit en av de viktigaste ekonomiska regionerna i södra Afrika: Limpopodalen. I denna avhandling betraktas rutinerna vid sådana oregistrerade gränsvärgningar som en vardagens politik med djupa historiska rötter. Genom arkivstudier och etnografiska observationer undersöker avhandlingen en samhällshistoria och en månsklig aktivitet där en rad aktörer i inblandade i en pågående papperslös migration. En viktig roll i sammanhanget har omalayitsha, dvs. privata transportörer, som ofta är en viktig länk mellan de papperslösa resenärerna och den migrationsregim som ena sidan stänger dem ute och andra sidan är så fragmenterad att de till slut passera igenom. I tre teoretiska och fyra empiriska kapitel samt med ett angreppssätt hämtat från gränsstudier, border studies och den kritiskt realistiska skolan inom migrationsstudier syftar avhandlingen till att förstå gränsvärgningens praktik i förhållande till den irreguljära mobilitet och det

Market-Led Agrarian Reform Saturnino Borrás Jr., Cristóbal Kay, Edward Lahiff, 2013-09-13 Three fourths of the world s poor are rural poor Most of the rural poor remain dependent on land based livelihoods for their incomes and reproduction despite significant livelihood diversification in recent years Land issue remains critical to any development discourse today Market led agrarian reform MLAR has gained prominence since the early 1990s as an alternative to state led land reforms This neoliberal policy is based on the inversion of what its proponents see as the features of earlier approaches and calls for redistribution via privatized decentralized transactions between willing sellers and willing buyers Its proponents especially those associated with the World Bank have claimed success where the policy has been implemented but such claims have been contested by independent scholars as well as by peasant movements who are struggling to gain access to land This book presents three thematic papers and six country studies The thematic papers address issues of formalisation of property rights gendered land rights and neoliberal enclosure These studies demonstrate the pervasive influence of neoliberal ideas on property rights and rural development debates well beyond the core question of land redistribution The country cases bring together experiences from Brazil Guatemala El Salvador Philippines South Africa and Egypt Common findings include the success of landowners in minimising the impact of reform and a lack of post transfer support translating into marginal impact on poverty The limitations of the market led approach and the implications of the studies presented here for the future of agrarian reform are considered in the editors introduction This book was a special issue of The Third World Quarterly Banana Nutrition Afam I. O. Jideani, Tonna A. Anyasi, 2020-01-22 Banana Nutrition Function and Processing Kinetics covers the nutritional aspects of the banana plant and fruit The book contains substantial scientific information written in an easy to understand format The chapters include information on pharmacological aspects of banana banana bioactives absorption utilization and health benefits banana pseudo stem fiber preparation characteristics and applications banana drying kinetics and technologies and integrating text mining and network analysis for topic detection from published articles on banana sensory characteristics All the chapters contain recent advances in science and technology regarding the banana that will appeal to farmers plant breeders food industry investors and consumers as well as students and researchers Readers will harness valuable information about the banana in controlling food security and non communicable nutrition related human illnesses Journal of African Archaeology, 2007 Water is Life Hellum, Anne, Kameri-Mbote, Patricia, 2015-10-19 This book approached water and sanitation as an African gender and human rights issue Empirical case studies from Kenya Malawi South Africa and Zimbabwe show how coexisting international national and local regulations of water and sanitation respond to the ways in which different groups of rural and urban women gain access to water for personal domestic and livelihood purposes The authors who are lawyers sociologists political scientists and anthropologists explore how women cope in contexts where they lack secure rights and participation in water governance institutions formal and informal The research shows how women as producers of family food rely on water from multiple sources that are governed by community based norms and institutions which recognise the right to water for livelihood How these common pool water resources due to protection gaps in both international and national law are threatened by large scale development and commercialisation initiatives facilitated through national permit systems is a key concern The studies demonstrate that existing water governance structures lack mechanisms which make them accountable to poor and vulnerable water users on the ground most importantly women The findings thus underscore the need to intensify measures to hold states accountable not just in water services provision but in assuring the basic human right to clean drinking water and sanitation and also to protect water for livelihoods Report of the Annual Meeting of the South African Association for the Advancement of Science, 2004 Routledge International Handbook of Social Justice Michael Reisch, 2014-04-03 In a world where genocide hunger poverty war and disease persist and where richer nations often fail to act to address these problems or act too late a prerequisite to achieving even modest social justice goals is to clarify the meaning of competing discourses on the concept Throughout history calls for social justice have been used to rationalize the status quo promote modest reforms and justify revolutionary even violent action Ironically as the prominence of the concept has risen the meaning of social justice has become increasingly obscured This authoritative volume explores different perspectives on social justice and what its attainment would involve It addresses key issues such as resolving fundamental questions about human nature and social relationships the distribution of resources power status rights access and opportunities and the means by which decisions regarding this distribution are made Illustrating the complexity of the topic it presents a range of international historical and theoretical perspectives and discusses the dilemmas inherent in implementing social justice concepts in policy and practice Covering more than abstract definitions of social justice it also includes multiple examples of how social justice might be achieved at the interpersonal organizational community and societal levels With contributions from leading scholars around the globe Reisch has put together a magisterial and multi faceted overview of social justice It is an essential reference work for all scholars with an interest in social justice from a wide range of disciplines including social work public policy public health law criminology sociology and education
