2016 Vaal Prospect:

Freshwater Challenges of South Africa and its Upper Vaal River Anja du Plessis, 2017-02-07 This book promotes better understanding and awareness of South Africa significant water problems by describing the country's and especially the Upper Vaal River's water resources. It is a go-to book for students, professionals, and regular citizens when information is required regarding the country's and more specifically the Upper Vaal River's freshwater resources. It highlights the major problems and risks which need to be addressed and give a realistic and true representation of the current water affairs.

Urbanization and Industrialization for Africa's Transformation, 2017 The 2017 Economic Report on Africa focuses on the linkages between industrialization and urbanization. Urbanization is one of Africa's mega trends with profound implications for the social, economic, environmental dimensions of growth and transformation. Theory and experience demonstrate that industrialization and urbanization can be mutually reinforcing processes. It is therefore imperative to explore the linkages between urbanization and industrialization given the profound implications for structural transformation in Africa. So far, current policy narratives and frameworks on structural transformation and industrialization in Africa have largely failed to factor in the spatial and urban dimensions of industrialization and in particular the advantages presented by productivity enhancement and agglomeration effects generated by cities. Yet the nexus between urbanization and industrialization is of particular relevance for Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda on Sustainable Development. Both agendas recognize urbanization as a critical factor for sustainable development. It is also important to consider urbanization and industrialization in light of Africa's engagement with the Third United Nations Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urban Development Habitat III to be held in Quito, Ecuador, in October 2016. In this context, African policy makers have clearly recognized urbanization as an engine of structural transformation for inclusive and sustainable growth. Rescaling municipal governance amidst political competition in Gauteng: Sedibeng's proposed re-demarcation Themba Mkhize, 2021-08-27 In 2011 the Gauteng Provincial Government proposed that Sedibeng, a Category C district municipality located in the province, should be restructured. Although the original proposal had anticipated that this would happen after the 2016 local elections, the issue remains unresolved due largely to fierce party political opposition and vociferous protests against it on the ground. This Occasional Paper examines the dynamics, particularities, peculiarities, and challenges of re-demarcating the Gauteng City Region. While informed by technical reasons, the arguments for and against the merger have tended to gravitate more towards party political rationales for why the re-demarcation should or should not go ahead. Although these debates raise important merits and demerits for the proposal, they are difficult to disentangle from the interests of those whose fortunes would be changed by restructuring. In this environment, municipal demarcation risks being held hostage by party politics, with stakeholders such as political parties using any means at their disposal to have things go their way, including by scapegoating the Municipal Demarcation Board (MDB). The case of Sedibeng presents important lessons.

about attempts to make post transition local government and mechanisms for determining its configuration work for Gauteng It also highlights the need for strengthening and revising demarcation related legislation How can we make sure that the MDB functions effectively with respect to its primary goals

Social Constructions of Water Quality in South Africa Suvania Naidoo, 2022-05-04 This book details how the water quality of the Blesbokspruit River in Gauteng South Africa was socially constructed by stakeholders and key individuals in the context of acid mine drainage AMD and its treatment Social constructionism is used as the framing for this research to explain how water is intrinsically social Findings presented here show that stakeholders are aware that the changes in the physicality of the Blesbokspruit resulted from human interventions and varied uses of the water over the years Such knowledge among factors such as the historical context of mining current coal mining flows and volumes of water technology used and processes followed information and communication and vested interests influence social constructions of the water quality What counts as the truth about water varies depending on the individual s perspective their purpose and their individual interests Further how one defines water quality influences what treatment processes are preferred in order to improve water quality The book explains why for example a treatment process meant to improve water quality gained a bad reputation by the public because of the South African government s silo approach The book explains how these social constructions are entrenched in power relations between stakeholders regarding AMD treatment and illustrates how power was used to influence decisions to improve the water quality of the Blesbokspruit The case presented in this book offers insights and recommendations for policymakers working in water governance including means to influence social constructions of water quality and ways to clarify roles and responsibilities in pursuit of improved cooperative government
